NEWS BRIEFS

Texas Primary No GOP Lure

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Two more public figures served notice Thursday they don't want to take part in the Republicans' May 2 Texas primary, and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller also asked that his name be withdrawn.

The state Republican chairman said, however, Rockefeller's name would stay on the ballot.

A Boston spokesman for Henry Cabot Lodge, surprise winner of the New Hampshire preference poll, notified state GOP Chairman Peter O'Donnell in Dallas that backers did not want Lodge to be entered. He said George Lodge, the ambassador's son, would confirm this request by telegram.

Greek King Laid To Rest

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Six of Europe's seven reigning sovereigns and a host of other dignitaries from around the world took part Thursday in a funeral procession for King Paul I.

The Greek monarch was buried on a tree-covered hill overlooking the country palace at Tatoi, 16 miles north of Athens, where he died of uremia a week ago following surgery for stomach ulcers.

More than a million Greeks lined Athens' streets and the road to the grave to weep and pray as the man who had ruled for 17 of his 62 years passed to his final rest.

Peking Bomb Ruffles India

GENEVA (AP) — The Indian government denounced Red China for trying to develop its own nuclear bomb and called on the rest of the world to prevent it.

Vishnu C. Trivedi, newly appointed Indian delegate to the 17-nation disarmament conference, avoided naming the Peking regime but his meaning Thursday was unmistakable.

Other delegates seemed startled by his speech, which swept aside a long - standing taboo against any discussion on the China issue on the conference floor.

Susquehanna River Retreats

HARRISBURG (AP)—Flooding waters of the Susquehanna River continued a slow retreat Thursday from crests that inundated more than 400 miles of the vast basin.

Though federal - state flood forecasters said river stages would fall steadily—barring further rains—the river was not expected to fall below flood stages in many areas until Friday.

The river was expected to be below flood stage at the key cities of Williamsport, on the west branch of the river, and Wilkes-Barre, on the east banch Friday morning.

UC Claims Take Dip

HARRISBURG (AP)—Claims for unemployment compensation declined slightly during the week ended March 6, the Bureau of Employment Security reported Thursday.

The number of continued claims dropped 3,495 to 184,281 while new claims were down by 1,421 to 24,378.

The bureau attributed the decline to "better work schedules in the textile and apparel industries."

City Hall Picketed In NY

NEW YORK (AP) — Thousands of white parents, employing a tactic of civil rights organizations, Thursday staged one of the largest protest demonstrations ever seen at City Hall.

Their 2½-hour picketing in swirling snow was against plans to transfer pupils from neighborhood schools to others nearby to racially balance enrollments.

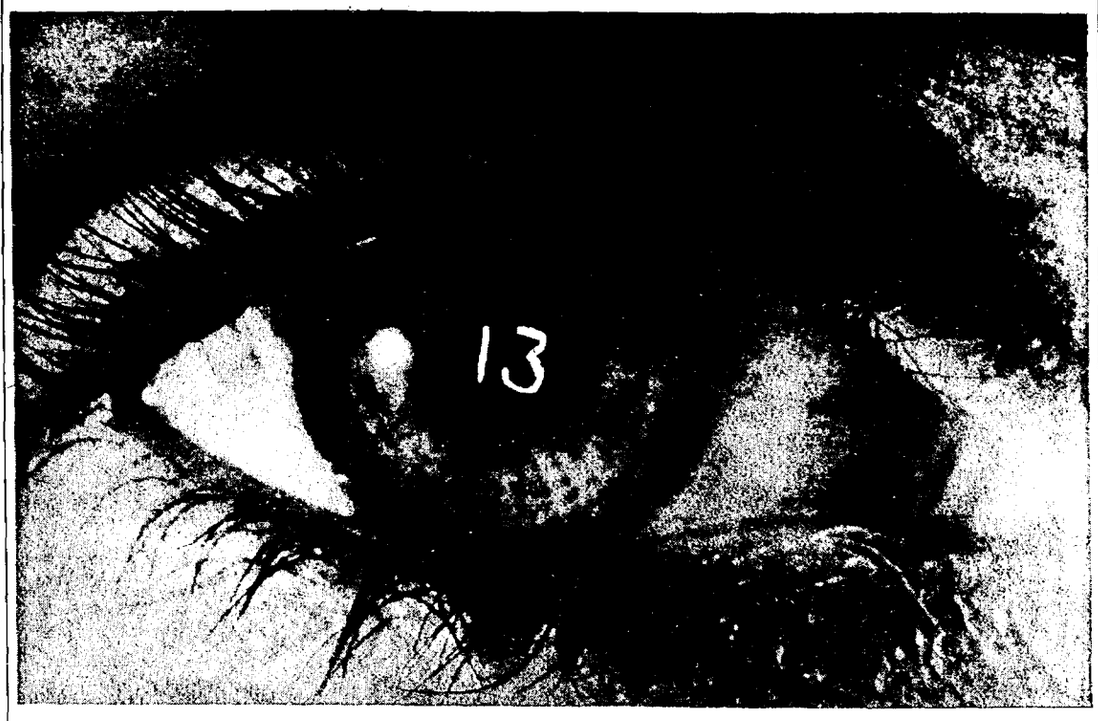

Some 15,000 persons marched, a few Negroes among them.

Historic Peaks In Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Late improvement by the steels helped extend the stock market's rise to five straight sessions Thursday. The popular averages hit historic peaks again but the gains were relatively tiny.

The Dow Jones industrial average advanced .35 to a record 814.22. The Associated Press 60-stock average picked up .2 to reach a peak of 301.4 with rails up .1, industrials ahead .4 and utilities up .2.

More Slashes Foreseen In Scranton's UC Bill

HARRISBURG (AP) — Senate Republicans are contemplating more revisions to Gov. Scranton's unemployment compensation program that could put off a showdown until Saturday.

"I am quite satisfied there will be some amendments," Majority Leader James S. Berger, R-Potter, declared Thursday after a three hour conference with his colleagues.

Demos Plan Assault

Meanwhile, Senate Democrats mapped strategy for their final assault against the controversial program.

A task force of six worked throughout the day, studying the bill and preparing questions and speeches for what promises to be a lengthy debate.

Basically, the two major amendments under consideration would allow claimants to work in jobs not covered by the U.S. law to qualify for a second round of benefits and would clarify eligibility for benefits during vacation periods.

Friday Session

Berger said there would be a session Friday, despite the sudden death of former Sen. George B. Stevenson, 74, of Lock Haven, Senate librarian.

One of the problems facing Republicans is the planned departure of Sen. Thomas A. Ehrgood, R-Lebanon, for a two-week trip to Greece next Tuesday.

Without Ehrgood, the GOP lacks the necessary majority to pass legislation over solid Democratic opposition.

Sit-In Planned

In another development, the Harrisbug Region Central Labor Council announced plans for a sit-in demonstration by rank-and-file unionists on the steps of the Capitol beginning an hour before the Senate convenes Friday.

The International Ladies' Garment Workers Union also is expected to have 300 women in the Senate chamber while debate is in progress.

Democrats and Republicans both feel the showdown will be delayed another 24 hours.

Democrats meanwhile promise an all out battle against the proposals.

"We will go until we've exhausted the subject," declared Sen. Paul W. Mahady, D-Westmoreland, one of the major opponents.

Optimism Noted

Berger said he is still optimistic about getting the votes to pass the bills, despite reports of uncertainty within the GOP ranks.

In the House, where the bill must go next, a hard core of at least eight Republican holdouts is reported.

The revisions already adopted by the Senate Labor and Industry Committee may cut as much as $8 million from the $35 million in benefit payments the administration had hoped to save.

A source close to the administration said the best estimate of the bill's net saving in benefit reductions is now $27 million

House Kills Salary Hike; Election Year Influences

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House turned down Thursday a $10,000-a-year pay raise for Congress members and killed with it salary increases for 1.7 million other federal employes.

On a 222-184 roll call, the members rejected the measure as a whole after having approved on nonrecord votes the separate provisions calling for increases for the others affected.

During two days of debate, opponents of the bill hammered at the idea of members of Congress voting themselves a big pay boost in an election year and just after having passed a hefty tax cut and pledged themselves to economy in government.

Republicans and Southern Democrats led the successful fight to scrap the bill, leaving its sponsors undecided as to whether they would seek to revive even the noncongressional sections of it this session.

Rep. Fred B. Rooney (D-15th Congressional District) which includes Monroe County voted for the pay hike.

Voting against the bill were 136 Republicans and 86 Democrats. Favoring it were 149 Democrats and 35 Republicans.

Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., leading the fight for its passage, called it "a management bill" and claimed higher salaries at the upper levels are needed to attract and hold the kind of people needed to run the government efficiently.

Besides members of Congress, Cabinet officials and their top aides, Supreme Court justices and the vice president all would have received $10,000-a-year raises.

For the career government workers and postal employes, raises would have ranged from 3 per cent at the lower levels to 22.5 per cent at the top, with the average mailman and government secretary getting a $450-a-year increase.

On its way to the final roll-call vote the House tentatively adopted every increase in the bill by big margins. The section covering career employes and postal workers was approved 92 to 18.

Greek Cypriots Bristle

NICOSIA, Cyprus, (AP)—The United Nations hastened efforts Thursday night to speed a peace-keeping force to Cyprus before this battered island could explode into even bloodier ethnic strife.

In the forefront, Canada reported it was committing 1,000 troops that could be airlifted to Cyprus within 24 hours and hinted it might send more if needed.

Secretary-General U Thant said a 7,000-man force should be in Cyprus in the very near future.

Intensified activity at United Nations headquarters in New York came as the armed frontier marking the Turkish and Greek Cypriot sectors here bristled with warlike activity.

Club Boosts Scranton For President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., said Thursday he is forming a "Scranton for President Club of Pennsylvania."

Schweiker said at a news conference he had not discussed the move with Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania although he dined Wednesday night with the governor and his wife.

Even if Scranton says to drop it, Schweiker said, he intends to keep going with his drive to draft Scranton as the Republican presidential candidate.

"This club will organize and channel the widespread existing support for Bill Scranton into meaningful action in his behalf," Schweiker said.

"Because of the outstanding job which Bill Scranton has done in Pennsylvania as governor and as leader of the Republican party, there is a massive grass roots support for him as the Republican nominee for president."

U.S. Denies Spy Charge; Demands Fliers' Return

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States demanded Thursday that the Soviet Union turn over "without delay" the three American crewmen of the U.S. RB66B plane shot down over Communist East Germany on Tuesday.

In the face of Russian rebuffs of U.S. attempts to get back the wreckage and the fliers, Washington stepped up its diplomatic effort by summoning Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin to the State Department on Thursday afternoon.

Ambassador-at-Large Llewellyn E. Thompson, senior adviser on East-West affairs, told the Soviet envoy, in a 12-minute meeting: "The U.S. government categorically denies as contrary to fact the allegation in the Soviet government's note of March 11 that the U.S. aircraft in question was 'engaged in a military intelligence mission.'

"The U.S. government expects the Soviet authorities to return to U.S. custody without delay the three U.S. personnel who were members of the crew of the aircraft."

State Department press officer Richard I. Phillips issued this version of Thompson's oral representation to the Soviet ambassador. Phillips earlier had disclosed that the Russians had barred U.S. military teams from the crash site, about 30 miles inside East Germany, and had supplied no information about the three U.S. officers who had been aboard.

Washington had initially voiced regret that the plane had crossed into Red air space, and hoped the incident would pass. But, the longer the Russians hold the three airmen, the more serious the affair becomes.

Phillips said the U.S. government still has no official word as to whether the three fliers are alive. Unofficial reports say the men parachuted safely.

While the department increased pressure for release of the fliers, Foy D. Kohler, U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union, said he considers Soviet-American relations "normal" in spite of the latest plane incident.

"We are continuing to have incidents," he told newsmen outside the House Foreign Affairs Committee room, where he had briefed a subcommittee on the current situation in the U.S.S.R.

Viet Nam Report: 'Very Serious'

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara told cheering Vietnamese their new premier has a sound strategy for defeating the Red guerrillas and "we are confident these plans point the way to victory."

But in an airport farewell on Thursday just before his plane left for Washington, McNamara said that he had found the situation in South Viet Nam "very serious." He promised the U.S. government will provide whatever additional aid is necessary to defeat the guerrillas.

McNamara stood on the speakers' platform beside Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, the strong man-premier who seized power Jan. 30 in a coup that was followed by resurgent guerrilla activity.

Vows U.S. Support

Reiterating U.S. support for Khanh, McNamara said he was pleased to learn on his five-day visit that the general had worked out a plan for the pacification of South Viet Nam.

McNamara said the plans "will need a united and vigorous effort by your people, and they will require additional assistance from our government, which we will furnish."

"Together, we can bring peace, security and prosperity to your beautiful land," McNamara concluded.

Khanh Listens

From McNamara's reference to economic and social plans it appeared Khanh has heeded U.S. advice to try to rally the support of the Vietnamese people. Many now are indifferent to the conflict or support the guerrillas.

One part of the pacification plan calls for strengthening and spreading out the system of strategic hamlets. The plan is in serious difficulties, partly because of government inaction. The strategic hamlets are fortified areas designed to protect Vietnamese from guerrillas.

The crowd in Saigon waved banners. One read: "We volunteer to march North."

That was a reference to possible attacks on Communist North Viet Nam, chief support of the Guerrillas.

Looks North

Khanh has indicated he favors some form of action against North Viet Nam on the theory that attack is the best defense.

McNamara worked to the last moment revising his report to President Johnson. It is expected to say in more detail what he told the Vietnamese, that massive U.S. aid must continue and possibly be increased.

Court Fines Canadensis Executives

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Six executives of Business Supplies Corp. of America were fined a total of $13,000 in U. S. District Court Friday on criminal contempt of court charges.

An office is located on Skytop Road in Canadensis.

Chief Judge Thomas J. Clary found the six guilty of criminal contempt last Thursday for disobeying a temporary restraining order he had issued against amending the by-laws of the firm, located in nearby Bryn Mawr. It manufactures and sells tabulating cards and data processing equipment.

A $5,000 fine was imposed on Clement V. Conole, of Bryn Mawr, chairman of the board of the firm. Alva M. Moyers, of Ardmore, an executive vice president, was fined $3,000.

Judge Clary also fined Bridwell Lincoln, of Paradise Valley, Monroe County, an executive vice president, $2,000.

He imposed $1,000 fines each on Conole's son, Richard C. Conole, of Paradise Valley, a director; William J. Callahan, of Mt. Pocono, and Charles E. Anable, of Sky Top, both vice presidents.

Judge Clary issued the restraining order on Feb. 10 at the request of L. Stanley Crandall, of Greenwich, Conn., who claims half ownership of the firm.

Crandall has petitioned the court to enjoin Conole, former executive vice president of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, and the other five officers from amending the by-laws to allow them to acquire more stock.

The six were released in a total of $15,000 bail pending an appeal to the U. S. Third Circuit Court of Appeals.

Hoffa Gets 8 Years, Also Fined $10,000

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) —James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, was sentenced Thursday to eight years in prison and fined $10,000 for jury-tampering.

U. S. Dist. Judge Frank W. Wilson passed the sentence, declaring Hoffa was convicted of "having tampered, really, with the very soul of the nation."

It was Hoffa's first prison sentence in five previous federal trials.

The Teamsters Union is the world's largest with 1.7 million members.

No union official has taken a hard stand on Hoffa's conviction, but one said "something will have to be done" if Hoffa goes to prison.

Under the sentence, he would be eligible for a parole hearing after about 2 years.

Hoffa faces another federal trial in Chicago beginning April 27 on charges of misusing union pension funds.

Three other men convicted with Hoffa drew prison terms of three years each, and defense lawyer Jacques Schiffer of New York City was sentenced to 60 days in jail and fined $1,000 for criminal contempt of court.

All said they will appeal their sentences, which climaxed a seven-week trial on charges that Hoffa and the others convicted tried to fix a federal jury in Nashville, Tenn., hearing a conspiracy charge against Hoffa.

All were freed on bail.

Schiffer, cited for a series of outbursts throughout the trial, was allowed to remain free without bond pending an appeal.

"I have been found guilty, I have been sentenced, I will appeal," Hoffa told newsmen.

The judge gave defense lawyers 10 days in which to seek appeals to the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati, Ohio. The defendants also are seeking a new trial.

Doctors Fight Over Ruby Mind

DALLAS (AP)—A psychiatric battle over the mind of Jack Ruby was prolonged late Thursday when the defense said it is calling a surprise last-minute witness Friday at his murder trial.

The man who is expected to have the last word in the case is Dr. Frederick A. Gibbs of Chicago, an authority on epilepsy — the condition the defense claims triggered an insane blackout in Ruby last Nov. 24 during which he shot Lee Harvey Oswald, accused presidential assassin.

Each side has produced contradictory testimony as to whether the 52-year-old operator of a Dallas strip-tease joint was sane when he shot Oswald.

The state closed out its case at 5:35 p.m. with the last of its battery of psychiatrists. Judge Joe B. Brown had told both sides that he wanted all testimony completed Thursday night.

Good Morning!

You'll never go wrong if you always remember not to bait your hook with steak if you like steak. Bait it with worms, which is what fish like.

Rights Foe Ready For 9 Year Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., came right out Thursday and told the Senate the civil rights bill ought to be filibustered and said he would be willing to fight if it took nine years to kill the measure.

It isn't often that Southern foes of civil rights legislation use the word filibuster to describe their long-talking tactics. They prefer such descriptions as "adequate discussion" and "educating the voter."

McClellan denounced the House-passed bill as "tainted." And he told his colleagues that if they refuse to send the bill to the Senate Judiciary Committee it would "greatly endanger, if not completely destroy, the efficiency and integrity of our legislative processes."

To bypass the committee, McClellan said, would bring confusion, instability and chaos.

Other Southern Democrats denounced a "bipartisan civil rights news letter" circulated by the bill's backers as an anonymous and clandestine operation which improperly set up a "Republican command post in the Democratic Policy Committee."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Democratic leader and floor manager for the civil rights bill, denied that the Democratic Policy Committee was involved. He said the document is being prepared daily in his office by his staff and that of Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, assistant GOP leader, with "funds we have to operate our offices."

State Pushes For Single County Unit In Monroe

(Editors note: This is the first of a series of articles on the controversial school reorganization for Monroe County. The series is written by Gil Murray, Daily Record Staff Reporter. Murray went to Harrisburg this week and interviewed officials in the Department of Public Instruction concerning their views on the issue.)

STROUDSBURG — The Department of Public Instruction wants all public schools in Monroe County merged into a single administrative unit and is ready to exert as much influence as it can to secure such a district in the county.

The county school board will meet Thursday, March 19, to vote on either a single county unit or a four-district plan of county school reorganization.

Lurking in the background as an interested spectator will be the DPI.

While the DPI will have no direct voice or authority in the county board's voting it will have a powerful effect on the plan's acceptance or rejection by the Basic Council of Education in Harrisburg.

Officials Agree

Top officials in the DPI all base their attitude on the same contention . . . four school districts the size of the ones presently operating in the county "cannot possibly hope to provide a comprehensive education program for their students."

Dr. Herbert E. Bryan, director, School District Organization, said, "I would like to see Monroe County schools reorganized into a single county unit. I was very disappointed when the board voted to submit a four-district plan (since repealed) to us."

Other DPI department heads who are anxious to see the county reorganized into a single unit are Dr. Richard A. Gibboney, director, curriculum development; Harold O. Speidel, director, District and County Affairs, and Donald M. Carroll, curriculum planning specialist.

Not Comprehensive

Dr. Gibboney said, "The schools in Monroe County don't offer a comprehensive educational program to their students. Not even in the larger high schools (Stroud Union and East Stroudsburg Area Joint).

"This type of a program could be possible if the county was operating as a single unit. However, it would be virtually impossible in a four-district plan.

"Under a county unit the equal distribution of wealth will enable the county to improve the educational program in its schools. Money will accomplish this," Dr. Gibboney said.

Two Factors

Dr. Gibboney contends a county unit is the only desirable form of reorganization.

He said:

1. To maintain a quality educational program a high school must contain a minimum of 360 students in each grade. This figure, Dr. Gibboney argues, would allow a high school to broaden and intensify its curriculum.

2. To accomplish this improved educational advantage, a broad tax base is necessary. He maintains if Monroe County is a single school district with uniform taxes, the money for teaching specialists will be available.

Speidel, who specializes in administering DPI policy for school districts, claims the only sound way to operate a county with a student population of a little over 8,000 is through a single school administrator.

"The philosophy of Act 299 (the new school reorganization law) is to provide the strongest possible school district that can be justified," Speidel maintained.

Law Clear

He said the preamble of the new law clearly states that school districts throughout Pennsylvania need reorganization. "The law calls for the smallest district to contain at least 4,000 students and unless there are critical circumstances all school districts should be this large," Speidel explained.

Concerning the ability of a nine-member school board to operate a countywide school district, Speidel said:

"The state of Maryland has operated a county unit school system for over 100 years; West Virginia for 30 years; and Florida for 10 years. They do it with small school boards. Many of these counties are much larger geographically than is Monroe County.

"Is it less likely to think there would be nine less dedicated men in Monroe County than there are in Maryland, Florida or West Virginia?" he asked.

Plan On File

When the county board votes on reorganization Thursday, the plan will remain on file in the county school superintendent's office for 30 days in order to give school districts which feel aggrieved an opportunity to file appeals.

The plan would then be submitted to the Basic Council of Education for its approval or rejection. If a county plan is appealed it would be reviewed by the board of appeals of the State Board of Education.

The decision of the state board would be binding on the basic council and would be the mandated plan for the county.

Speidel admitted the DPI and both boards of education would like to see the county reorganized into a county unit. He said: "If Monroe County submits a plan for reorganization calling for four school districts and appeals are attached, I am sure the board of appeals would act favorably on the appeal.

No DPI Say

"The DPI would have no actual say in considering the appeal. However, if the board of appeals requested background information on the situation, we would supply that material.

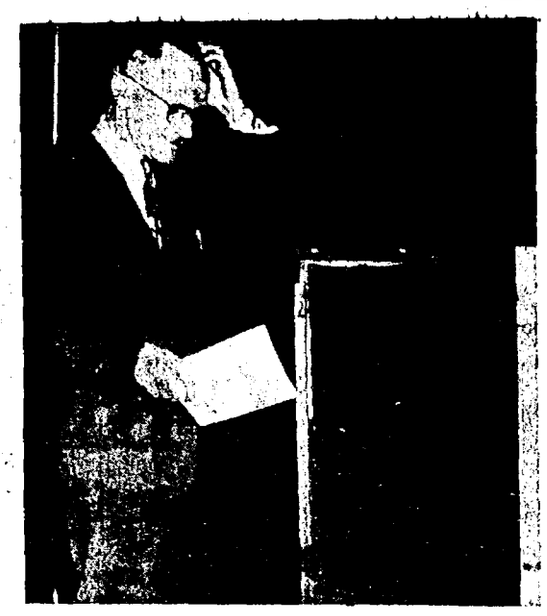

"I feel that more weight would be given an appeal to a four-district plan than to an appeal to a single county unit."

Carroll said the problem of curriculum can only be solved in a single county unit.

"Good educators could be shared throughout the county without harming any one district," he said.

"It is our experience that small school districts do not improve their educational program on their own," Carroll declared.

Speidel said the DPI is anxious to see the county become a single unit because "we don't think there will be another reorganization law coming out of the Pennsylvania legislature for possibly from 10 to 15 years.

Beatles Boost Scranton Jobs

SCRANTON, Pa. (UPI) — The Beatles have provided about 200 new jobs here this year.

Capitol Records reported Thursday that records made by the English group are so popular that it had to increase its local payroll to 1,100 persons during January and February.

It was the largest number of employees on the Capitol payroll since the firm moved its record pressing and allied operations here in 1945.

Steel Record Predicted

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The publisher of Iron Age magazine predicted Thursday night that steel production this year probably will exceed the record 117 million tons output of 1955.

Tom Campbell forecast a strong upturn this year for the entire metalworking industry and the steel industry in particular. A long-range term holds even brighter prospects he said, in an address before the American Society for Metals.

"Metal companies and steel mills will more than face up to world competition in the next several years," Campbell said. "The steel industry today is not the industry of the past. More than $1.5 billion annually will be spent for several years, bringing the steel plants up to an efficiency and modernization matched nowhere in the world."

Campbell said the upturn could last four to six years with no serious interruption.

Heroism Award To Railroader

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A railroader who lunged from a moving locomotive and pushed a girl out of the way was cited Thursday for heroism by the Carnegie Hero Fund Comission.

Robert N. Attwool, 50, of Clarion, Iowa, was credited with saving the life of Leslie Kelley, 1, at Hansell, Iowa, June 27, 1962.

Attwool, awarded a bronze medal and $750, was among 25 persons cited for heroic acts in nine states and two Canadian provinces.

Flames Shoot High In Air

WARREN, Pa. (AP) – A spectacular fire — shooting flames 200 feet in the air at times — erupted Thursday at Warren's United Refining Co. plant.

The fire of undetermined origin roared through a loading area, damaging two tank trucks. No buildings were involved.

No injuries were reported.

Police said they received a report that flames were visible a mile away in downtown Warren. Officials described the blaze as spectacular but not serious. There were a number of explosions.

Livestock Show Set For November

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Eighth Annual Pennsylvania Livestock Exposition will be held at the State Farm Show Building Nov. 9-13, the state announced this week. Agriculture Secretary Leland H. Bull named Harold R. McCulloch of State College as show manager.

Sen. Clark Pushes Flood Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said this week he will ask the Senate Appropriations Committee to approve planning funds for a new flood control reservoir in central Pennsylvania.

He said flooding along the Susquehanna River emphasized the need for a dam on Bald Eagle Creek near Bellefonte in Centre County. Water spilled six feet above flood stage at Lock Haven Tuesday night.

Clark said that in a letter to Chairman Allen J. Ellender, D-La., of the subcommittee which handles funds for public works, he will ask $200,000 to plan the Blanchard Reservoir during the fiscal year which begins July 1.

This reservoir would be the fourth in a comprehensive flood control network for the West Branch of the Susquehanna River, Clark said. The others are Stevenson and Kettle Creek Dams in Clinton County and Curwensville Dam in Clearfield County.

The Blanchard Reservoir would reduce flood conditions at Lock Haven, Jersey Shore, Williamsport, Milton, Lewisburg, Sunbury and Harrisburg. All have experienced flooding during the last several days.

Miss Blatt Confident

HARRISBURG (AP) — Internal Affairs Secretary Genevieve Blatt told the Philadelphia Democratic organization this week she is confident she can win the party's nomination to the U.S. Senate.

Miss Blatt, who is bucking the state organization-backed candidate, Supreme Court Justice Michael Musmanno, for the nomination, said in a statement:

". . . I am in this campaign to win both the nomination and the election, and I am confident I will do both."

Her statement came in reply to one issued by the city Democratic organization Tuesday charging that Sen. Joseph S. Clark, her biggest backer, was supporting her because he wanted to see Republican incumbent Hugh Scott reelected in November.

Scranton Story For Oregon

HARRISBURG (AP) — A biographical sketch of Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton will appear in the Oregon voters' primary election guide because of the work of Pennsylvania Republican State Chairman Craig Truax.

Truax said he had a 400-word biographical sketch inserted in the voters guide when it became clear that Scranton would not withdraw his name from the Republican ballot in the May 15 Oregon primary.

Truax said the insertion did not include any statements of policy or Scranton's often - repeated position disclaiming any intention to seek the GOP presidential nomination.

PILOT WASHES HIS HANDS

On certain festival days, Pontius Pilot, the governor of Judea, released to the crowd whichever prisoner they wished.

Certain of Christ's innocence, he offered them a choice between Him and Barabbas, a notorious criminal. But to his astonishment, the crowd chose Barabbas.

"What then am I to do with Jesus who is called Christ," he asked.

And the crowd cried out, "Crucify Him, crucify Him."

Afraid that a riot was about to break out, Pilot gave in, but first took water and washed his hands in the sight of the crowd, saying:

"I am innocent of the blood of this just person: see ye to it." (Matthew XXVII:24)

Pilot's attempt to wash his hands of official responsibility in the matter has stood evermore as a gesture of futility.

'Because Of Adverse Public Opinion'

Commissioners Reject PMVB Request For $2,000

STROUDSBURG — The Monroe County Commissioners yesterday decided to deny the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau's request for $2,000 for the support of bureau projects "because of adverse public opinion."

"We decided not to give the vacation bureau the money because of all the phone calls, letters, and the large amount of public opinion against the move," said commissioner Stuart Pipher.

The tourist organization had originally asked the board for an amount equalling 10 cents for every person in the county. The board then cut this to 10 cents on every person over 21, decreasing the allocation from $3,900 to about $2,100

The Western Poconos Resort Assn. then asked for a proportional share of the money based on the population of their region.

Last week the vacation bureau sent a letter to the board agreeing to give the W.P.R.A. a tenth of the money.

The commissioners had still taken no action on the request except to tentatively include the $2,000 in the budget.

To Get Land

In other business, commissioners' solicitor Russell L. Mervine said that the First Stroudsburg Nationa. Bank had agreed to give the commissioners land adjacent to the Third St., Stroudsburg, playground area.

The only cost to the county would be the cost of surveying the property so that it can be deeded, and the cost of filing the deed.

The exact amount of land was not specified, but the playground will be an aujunct of the land currently being developed as commercial ground for stores along Third St

Sun Litho of East Srtoudsburg was awarded the contract to do the printing for the coming election in April, at a cost of $2,321.

Herbert Crane, CPA, was asked to look at the county's books and come up with recommendations on classifying them in accordance with the standard budget from the State Dept. of Internal Affairs.

Solicitor Mervine said that the commissioners would like the books set up so that 'at the end of the year information can be more quickly and accurately gathered than is now the case."

He said classifications of money spent do not now follow the budget form. The commissioners also need a regular bookkeeping system of "an uncomplicated nature," according to Mervine, for use at the County Home.

"Let me make a study of the whole thing, including my fees, and I'll report back to you," Crane said.

The commissioners were told by William Reaser, chief clerk, that special registration, including three extra periods at the courthouse and two outside periods in Barrett and Mt. Pocono, cost the county $167.80.

For this money, 532 people used the extra services. There were 234 Republicans, 287 Democrats, five non-partisan, and six independents. There were 46 changes to Democrat, 97 changes to Republican, and two Republicans changed to non-partisan.

The outside registration cost the county $79.50. Eighty-three persons were registered.

John McFarland of the State Aeronautics Commission will meet with the board Tuesday, March 24, at 9:30 a.m. The Pocono Mountains Airport will be discussed. John Crandall, a member of the airport authority, will also be called.

Flood Dangers

A representative of the Dept. of Forests and Waters will visit the board Thursday at 10 a.m. to discuss possible flood dangers at the Dogwood Gardens section of Stroudsburg. The commissioners had previously held an on-site inspection of the area and recommended that an official also view the area.

The Top of the Poconos Assn. asked the board in a letter to work with all speed with contributing municipalities to complete facilities at the Pocono Mountains Airport.

The group also "heartily endorsed the airport," according to the letter.

A $108 contract for service to courthouse air conditioners by Lawton Huffman Co. was renewed for this year.

Inspect Bridges

The board agreed that county bridges should be inspected to insure that load limits were correct, and signs were visible. The board was told that a sign saying "Four ton load limit" was needed at a Pocono Lake bridge.

Gene Schwartz, Gordon Stettler, and James Mosier, Smithfield Twp. supervisors, asked the board if there was an allocation for road improvement money in the new county budget.

They were told that $4,698 for that purpose was included in the budget. The supervisors told the board that population in the township has increased, and perhaps the allocation can be increased.

Samuel Smith of Tunkhannock Twp. was told that his municipality was slated to receive $1,000 for roads, the same figure as last year.

Chairman Stanley B. Rader told Smith that increased assessed value in the township will add revenue this year.

The chief clerk read a letter to the board from Rep. Fred B. Rooney. It was in answer to a request for sources of drugs for the county home at reduced cost.

Rooney said that the government does not provide drugs at reduced prices for charitable organizations such as the County Home because it doesn't want to undersell the market.

"Almost all generic tranquilizers are patented by drug companies and sold at competitive prices," Rooney added.

He suggested writing to state health and welfare agencies on the possibility of providing wholesale drugs to the home.

Citizens Advisory Group On Planning Proposed

EAST STROUDSBURG — Donald F. DeOtte, a member of the Monroe County Planning Commission, proposed last night formation of a county-wide citizens advisory planning committee.

It would hold monthly meetings, hear planning experts and public officials who have had experience with planning and zoning, and study special problems of the Pocono Mountain area, such as difficulties raised by the Tocks Island Dam and National Recreation Area.

He made the proposal as one of six citizens who spoke in a panel discussion titled, "Do we need community planning and where do we go from here?"

The panel was the last of eight community planning conferences at East Stroudsburg State College arranged by John E. Withrow, Monroe County agent; Charles D. Hogan Jr., assistant agent; and George Harter, rural areas development agent, all of the Pennsylvania State University Cooperative Extension Service.

Supported By Others

DeOtte's proposal was supported by other speakers, who were Mrs. Frank Butler; Ted Kirk; Mrs. Robert Nichols; George Levin; and R. M. Hoot.

Certificates of attendance were presented to 57 Monroe County residents who attended at least six of the meetings. More than 80 attended the first meeting.

The discussion panel was followed by an audience argument over the regulatory powers of planning and zoning commissions.

C. A. Nauman, chief county assessor, said, "It's alright to talk about what we should do with other people's land, but if I start to tell you how to run your business, you're going to get mad."

Charles J. McMahon, replied, "I love living in Monroe County, but I think we are doomed. Everybody is for planning until it hurts him . . . Some people argue that 'What I do on my land is my business. But that's not true anymore. If I build a pigsty on my land it affects too many people. We're too crowded today."

Mrs. Albert W. Koster argued that Monroe County "must have a feeling of urgency about planning." She added, "If we don't, we are going to have a Coney Island here created by people trying to make a quick dollar."

E-burg Joint Board Moves Renovate Elementary School

EAST STROUDSBURG—The Joint School Committee of the East Stroudsburg Area Joint School District last night authorized its architect to complete plans and advertise for bids for extensive renovations to the old N. Courtland St. elementary school.

A spokesman for the architects, Everitt Assoc, of Allentown, told the committee at a meeting in the high school, plans will be ready in two and a half weeks. Bids will be received jointly by the joint school authority and joint committee.

When work is finished—sometime next fall—the building will house 13 classrooms plus a library.

The first floor will have six rooms in addition to a health room with nurses station, kindergarten and toilets. The second floor will house seven classrooms, a library and a faculty room.

The old gymnasium will be converted into a multi-purpose room. The elementary school students will eat in the high school cafeteria.

New Slate Roof

Plans also call for a new slate shingle roof for the building, blacktopping the athletic area and removing the existing bell tower.

In other action the board:

Authorized the hiring of assistant coaches in baseball and track at a yearly salary of $200.

Granted a maternity leave to Mrs. Mary Ann Seip effective March 15 and asked Carl Secor, supervising principal to request Mrs. Seip to assume the duties of coaching girls basketball when she returns in September.

Approved the use of the auditorium by the Junior Chamber of Commerce for its Junior Miss Pocono Contest and the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club to present a concert by Guy Lombardo for the benefit of the hospital building fund.

Approved the use of a classroom by the Monroe County Bureau of Civilian Defense.

Accepted resignations from Helen Gordon, Beverly Koleun and Joan Riebel, all teachers in the district.

2 Hurt In 3-Car Crash At 4th, McConnell Sts.

STROUDSBURG — Two persons were injured in a three-car collision yesterday at 1:20 p.m. at the intersection of Fourth and McConnell Sts., Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Edna Smeltz, 46, of 612 Oak St., East Stroudsburg, was admitted to the General Hospital of Monroe County for treatment of a scalp laceration and knee injuries. She is reported in satisfactory condition.

William H. Smith, 51, of 38 S. Kistler St., East Stroudsburg, was taken to the hospital where he was treated and released.

Police identified the drivers as Mrs. Smeltz, Smith and Michael F. Gary, 25, of 55 N. Green St., East Stroudsburg.

According to police, Mrs. Smeltz was traveling west on McConnell St. when Smith, operating a pickup truck, pulled through the intersection. The Smeltz car and Smith vehicle collided.

Smith's truck was spun around by the force of the impact and struck the Gary car. The Gary car was stopped for the stop sign on Fourth Street.

Police said the entire front of the Smeltz car was damaged. Both sides of the body of Smith's vehicle were damaged, and the Gary car had damages to the left front and hood.

Meisner Named GOP Nominator

STROUDSBURG — Carl Meisner was appointed chairman of the nominating committee of the Monroe County Republican Club last night at its meeting in the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

In other business a film, "Where Were You" was shown. The movie showed the need for citizens to participate in voting and politics.

Car Hits Rails, Driver Unhurt

EAST STROUDSBURG — Glenn Reish Jr. of 72 Penn St., East Stroudsburg, escaped injury yesterday at 8:15 a.m. when his car skidded out of control on the ramp from Prospect St. to Interstate Rt. 80 and crashed into guard rails.

East Stroudsburg police said Reish was traveling west on the ramp off Prospect St. to Interstate Rt. 80 when his car skidded out of control going down the ramp, crossing the westbound lane, the median strip, the eastbound lane and crashing into the guard rails before coming to a stop.

Police estimate damage to the car at $150.

Barrett Supervisors Oppose Single County School Unit

CANADENSIS — Opposition to the single-county school district plan was voiced last night by the Barrett Township Supervisors at a meeting in Barrett Elementary Center.

Applause by 20 residents attending, greeted the resolution when the supervisors unanimously went on record opposing the move.

Robert Bodine of Mountainhome, requested the supervisors and those in the audience to attend the March 19 Monroe County school directors meeting when the plan comes up for adoption.

During the discussion following the announcement, L. M. Caruthers, secretary of the supervisors, pointed out that this was the first step in the breakdown of home rule. He also declared a "lobby has been established in the state legislature to prevent the loss of home rule."

Atty. Elmer D. Christine, township solicitor, told the group that letters stating their position as favoring home rule could be sent to Rep. Van D. Yetter and Sen. William Z. Scott.

Bodine, in reporting a telephone conversation with David Hutchinson, county school director, said that if the one-county plan was adopted it would take away direct representation on school boards.

According to population statistics the mountain area would not be large enough to qualify for a school director on the proposed nine-man county board.

Meeting Tuesday

It was announced that a meeting concerned with the redistricting will be held Tuesday in the Pocono Mountain Joint High School auditorium at 8 p.m.

Dr. Edmund Magann, Pocono Mountain Joint School committee president, will attend and Hutchinson has been invited, also. The supervisors were urged to attend, too.

In other business, Roger Lindsey, chairman, requested the secretary to write a letter to the Monroe County chief assessor requesting that new buildings in the township completed in 1963 or early 1964 and occupied, be placed on the 1964 assessment.

In the request, it was also added that Carl Brown, township assessor, be allowed to work 12 months on personal assessment rather than the usual two months. The request was made by William Everitt, township constable, to enable Brown to cover the numerous seasonal jobs in the area.

Township bills totaling $2,163.00 were approved for payment. The board awarded a contract for signs — 53 to be painted and six new signs to William Seugle for $135.40.

The other bid for signs was from William Meeks, $183.

Fersommling Saturday

STROUDSBURG — The annual fersommling of Grundsow Lodge Tzaca of Stroudsburg will be held Saturday at 7 p.m. in the Stroud Twp. Firehall on N. Fifth St., Stroudsburg. Dr. Floyd W. Shafer, club president, said yesterday.

Guest speakers will be Porra Clarence Rahn of Temple and Brother Reifsinger of Sellersville.

Dr. Shafer will serve as toastmaster and music will be played by Jos Bass, professional zitherist, and Lester Rice, organist.

EAST STROUDSBURG — Carl Secor, secretary of the East Stroudsburg Board of Recreation, said yesterday that applications for positions at the East Stroudsburg Playground are now being accepted.

There are openings for four life guards at the pool — two male and two female. Also three openings for playground supervisors are available.

Applications should be mailed to Carl Secor at East Stroudsburg Area High School, N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg.

$25 Fine Plus $5

LONG POND — Justice of the Peace Isaac Dyson of Long Pond yesterday said the Daily Record's story about George A. Gaul of Lindhurst, N.J., was incorrect.

Dyson said Gaul paid a $25 find and a $5 cost and was not fined $30 and costs.

Piano Tuners Set Standard Rates

Piano tuners of the Pen Argyl, Wind Gap, Mt. Pocono and Stroudsburg areas have met and discussed the pricing of piano tuning. It has been noted that piano tuning in Philadelphia and New York and other cities of the U. S. has been $12.50 per tuning for several years and is now going to $15.00. The situation has been carefully studied and in order to keep abreast of the times, to pay insurances, to pay the high cost of travel and communications, to keep the necessary paper work that is required by today's modern tax laws and to still come out with an hourly wage that is equal to a skilled factory worker the price of piano tuning here must go up. It has been agreed by all that by the 1st day of June 1964 piano tuning will be $12.00 plus state tax.

Piano tuning must not be confused with repair work or pitch raising or lowering, repair work will be charged for according to the time and material involved. A 10% discount will be given to nonprofit organizations and where there are two or more pianos to be tuned in one building in one given day.

GOP Open Field

The New Hampshire primary did not help the Republican party in its campaign to unseat Democratic President Lyndon B. Johnson, a Texan now "riding high in the saddle."

The favorite son upset by Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. ambassador in South Viet Nam, damaged and perhaps demolished the presidential aspiration of Senator Barry Goldwater and Governor Nelson Rockefeller.

Both men, declared candidates who vigorously and expensively campaigned throughout New Hampshire, ran a poor second and third, although their names were on the ballot and voters had to write in the names of Lodge and Nixon, who also made an unexpectedly strong showing.

The immediate effect of the vote is to throw the Republican scramble for the presidential nomination even more wide open than it was before the New Hampshire primary.

Political strategists and commentators figure that by cutting Goldwater and Rockefeller down to size, the Lodge victory raised the chances of now unannounced candidates.

The beneficiaries of this more open field, without a clear frontrunner, are Lodge himself, Governor William Scranton, Richard Nixon, and even George Romney—all unannounced but potential candidates.

The Republican voters of one state at least showed that they are not enthusiastic about the formal republican candidates, Goldwater and Rockefeller.

Later and bigger state primaries may prove that this was just a local, New England expression.

But the conclusion is inescapable that the Republican party will have to search beyond Goldwater and Rockefeller for a man who has a chance to win next November.

Penn Stroud Terrace Food

We urge the Stroudsburg borough council to allow the Penn-Stroud Hotel to serve refreshments on its outdoor Main St. terrace during the summer.

A Stroudsburg borough ordinance prohibiting the service of food outdoors in an unscreened area apparently must be amended to allow outdoor service at the Penn-Stroud.

Screens on the hotel terrace porch would be unattractive at best and do not seem necessary to public health. All of us eat outdoors during the summer on private picnics and at public eating places, such as golf courses in the Poconos, ice cream stands, etc., without endangering our health.

State health laws do not require screens in this case.

George M. Livingstone, supervising sanitarian in the Kingston office of the State Department of Health, has informed the borough council that it is permissible for food to be served in a sanitary place approved by the board of health and covered by a valid health certificate.

The Penn-Stroud Hotel terrace, in all probability, meets these requirements. The borough ordinance also says that the place where food is served outdoors must be away from dust and dirt.

It is argued by some that the Penn-Stroud Hotel terrace is too close to Main and Seventh Streets and that normal summer street dust may blow into the terrace and contaminate the food. We doubt that dust and dirt are a major health threat.

The terrace is set back from the street by a wide sidewalk on Main St. and by space normally occupied by automobiles parked at meters. It is safe to assume that when wind is blowing dust in people's eyes, they will not want to sip iced tea on the terrace.

The Penn-Stroud Hotel terrace is potentially one of the nicest spots on Main Street for tourists or residents to stop during the summer months after shopping or doing business in Stroudsburg.

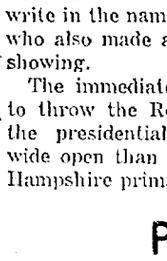

It would enhance the attractiveness of a summer visit to Stroudsburg's Main Street — something the whole borough would profit by.

Franco Tires

By George Dixon

MADRID — The big talk around Spain is that Generalissimo Francisco Franco is about to surrender some, if not all, of his powers. This kind of talk has been whispered for years, of course, but now it is much more open and less furtive. You hear everywhere you go that, at 71, after 25 years of being absolute dictator, Franco is getting tired, fed up, and frightened.

Government spokesmen deny the part about being fed up and frightened, but for the first time they admit that the septuagenarian chief is beginning to feel the burden of holding down four jobs.

Franco is Chief Chief Chief Chief. He is Chief of State, Commander - in-Chief of the armed forces, Chief of the Cabinet, and Chief of the Falange (pronounced "Falangchay"). Spain's only aboveground political party.

There may be something prophetic in the way the Spanish handle the title Chief. They spell it "Jefe," but pronounce it "Heffy," as in "Heffy Heffy Hangs Over Thy Head."

Up to now, however, Franco hasn't had to play any game of forfeits. He has been on top of all his jobs, including the endurance - contest Cabinet post.

The Cabinet meets every other Friday at noon. For two hours, Franco tells what he thinks. He hasn't been interrupted since the Spanish civil war.

At 2 p.m. the Cabinet recesses for sustenance and siesta. The ministers make a quick break for fear El Jefe will invite them to lunch. Franco is a Spartan. He not only won't have wine, smoking, or palatable food; he won't even have girl friends. To Spanish politicians, such denial of the flesh is un-Spanish.

The Cabinet reconvenes at 5 p.m. and goes on and on, sometimes to 2 and 3 a.m.—after which Minister of Information Manuel Fraga Iribarne holds a press conference. It is covered by some of the sleepiest and most wine-filled correspondents in Spain.

Government spokesmen aver there is a "slight possibility" Franco will give up his Cabinet Chieftanship. But they insist he will not surrender it to anybody but Agustin Munoz Grandes, who is the Spanish equivalent of Vice President. Munoz not only is Franco's man, however, but he is also 69 and sickly.

The talk outside the government, on the other hand, is that Franco isn't just going to quit a part of one job; he's going to quit them all, and beat it for the Portugese island of Maderia. He'd have ex-dictator company because former President Fulgencio Batista of Cuba lives there. They say Franco will never seek haven in France. It has 600,000 Spanish refugees from the civil war who hate the Jefe.

It had been my intention to seek an exclusive interview with Franco to ask him how much fire there was in this smoke, but I was informed that El Jefe is booked up for exclusive interviews every day for the next three weeks, just as he has been booked solidly for exclusive interviews daily for the last three months. I felt it would be a nice jesture of Spanish - American goodwill to grant him a day off from being exclusively interviewed.

However, I did see him. This was at El Escorial, the combination palace, library, museum, monastery and royal tombs outside Madrid. He showed up for the annual memorial services for all the Kings of Spain, from 16th Century Carlos V to the last monarch, Alfonso XIII.

When he came down the aisle, to take his place on the altar across from the Bishop of Madrid, a drawn - faced Franco kept darting glances to right and left from hooded eyes. My wife gave me a nudge that throbbed for several hours afterward, and hissed:

"That guy is scared!"

I suppose it was coincidental, but she came close to paying for that remark. After the memorial, she was almost hit by Franco's departing car.

"I'm glad you jumped back in time," I told her. "It would have put me in a hell of a dilemma. How could I ever tell people that you'd been hit by Franco's car?"

The Pennsylvania Story

Fiscal Monster

By Mason Denison

HARRISBURG — Reporter's Notebook:

Half - Billion Dollar "Addenda" — One of the more amusing (depending on how you look at it) incidents of the current legislative week on Capitol Hill developed when Governor Scranton presented to lawmakers his proposed half - billion dollar "special funds" budget.

Quipped one fellow (Republican) lawmaker as the fiscal monster finally moved over from the front office to the desks of lawmakers:

"My word — in all the commotion we've had the past few weeks over unemployment compensation revision I had completely forgotten about this 'budget extra' . . . but then again, it's only a piddling half-billion dollars, just sort of an 'addenda' to the big budget we received earlier."

Actually the lawmaker in question was wrong on one big count: the "special funds" budget isn't an "extra" and it isn't an "addenda" — it's a part and parcel of the overall budgetary picture for Pennsylvania . . . For the coming fiscal year the budgetary picture now rounds out to about $1.7 billion for the Keystone State, which certainly is no small cabbage.

This includes the so - called "general fund" budget of $1.1 billion (to cover general day-to-day operations of State Government) and the now - presented $576 "special funds" budget which most students of government feel should be lumped into a single budget . . . Historically however the two have never been joined, and the "special funds" budget presentation invariably follows presentation of the big "general fund" budget.

The two budgets are as different as night and day however in this one outstanding respect:

The general fund budget ($1.-1 billion) is supported by "general" tax programs paid largely by taxpayers as a whole . . . The special funds budget is paid for largely by specific (or special) users . . . For example, the Game Fund is supported by the hunting fraternity; the Fish Fund by followers of Isaac Walton, and the Motor License Fund ($566 million) by motor vehicle and highway users.

Assaults On Capitol Hill — Mounting the ramparts of Capitol Hill seemingly is becoming quite a popular avocation these days as dissident groups vent their feelings against this or that form of bureaucracy atop the mound.

This week some 2,000 labor people protesting the proposed changes in the State's unemployment compensation program mounted the 67 steps (one for each county) leading up Capitol Hill to sound off their UC revision opposition (complete with loudspeakers) . . . Last week some 200 strip mine operators converged on Capitol Hill to vent their displeasure with the strip mine backfill law enacted last year . . . Both gatherings were orderly — no bones or heads broken.

Quipped one Capitol Hillite: "Balls of fire — you'd think this were Trafalgar Square in jolly old London, and then again, why not? . . . What more appropriate place is there for venting feelings than right here?"

Upcoming In Pennsylvania— (Today is Friday the 13th!) . . . Sunday, March 15 at Trade and Convention Center in Philadelphia — traditional Japanese music and dance . . . March 20 and 21 at Grove City — National College Swimming Championship (400 colleges competing) . . . March 20 and 21 at Zembo Mosque in Harrisburg — Presentation of the annual (for the past 30 years) "Passion Play" of Harrisburg . . . March 19-21 at Community Center in Yardley — "Tomorrow and Tomorrow" by Yardley (Bucks County) Players . . . March 21 in Erie at Memorial Auditorium — Philharmonic Young Peoples Concert . . . Ending March 22 at Hunt Armory in Pittsburgh — boat show . . . March 14-21 at UGI Building in Reading — Home and Building Show.

Persistence Pays Off

Chesty pulled into the curb and slammed on his brakes. The door on the driver's side flew open and the man was on the sidewalk in four steps.

He called to a paisan up the street. "Nuckles! Where is Fritz?"

With that Chesty was scurrying toward his friend. "Got two bits on you?"

Nuckles pulled out one pocket that showed a hole. He stuck his hand downward and pulled the other side of his pants leg indicating the flat broke gesture.

"You know I haven't worked in six months," he said.

"Well I need a quarter. Want to stop into the restaurant and grab a bite to eat," Chesty explained. "Haven't eaten in 24 hours."

With that another voice came from the vicinity of Chesty's vehicle. "Your meter shows red, fellow," the voice shouted.

"Leave it be," Chesty called back. "Unless you got a nickel to put in don't let it worry you. Right now I'm worried about getting one quater of a dollar. By the way do you have two bits?"

Officer O'Leary was making his rounds checking the meters and turned red when he saw red overlooking Chesty's parking place.

O'Leary looked up the street and saw Chesty. He had known him for a long time. In fact it was O'Leary who had opened the door of the cell to let Chesty out after his last escapade.

"Hey, bub, how about feeding this meter?"

"Can't O'Leary, I'm busted," Chesty said walking toward the patrolman.

"By the way, buddy you don't happen to have two bits on you, do you?"

O'Leary dug into his blue trousers and brought out a 25-cent piece. "Here, now you get into the car and hit the road. I don't want to see you again," cautioned the cop.

Thanks pal. Let's see that's 10 bucks I owe you, isn't it," Chesty laughed.

Chesty took four more steps to the vehicle opened the door of the car and reminded O,'Leary for the hundredth time, "I don't know what you fellows would do without me. You just wouldn't have a beat."

O'Leary grunted, "It's guys like you that make the job interesting and costly, too."

Loose Screws

A good method of tightening loose screws which have been worn out the threads in their holes is to force a short piece of solid core wire solder into the hole. The soft metal will press around the threads and hold the screw tightly.

What People Think

Said a minister in N.Y. City last Sunday on the subject of disrespect for policemen:

In a sermon the Rev. Dr. Marion L. Maties said that "cop-hating" was a symbol of "the decline of respect for law and order" in American culture.

"These days it really pays to be underprivileged," the Protestant Episcopal priest went on.

"If you are incompetent and unable to hold a job, a dropout from grade school, a drifter, or an alcoholic, you will find the enormous resources of the state treasury at your disposal.

"Should you happen to be a policeman, however, you might be beaten up by the public while making an arrest on the street."

The Allen-Scott Report

Burton's Morals

Robert S. Allen — Paul Scott

WASHINGTON — The smoldering controversy over actor Richard Burton's eligibility under the immigration laws to enter the U. S. is spreading to include his director and other members of the cast.

Representative Michael Feighan, D-O., chairman of the House Judiciary Subcommittee on Immigration, is challenging the "admissability" of Sir John Gielgud, the director, and other alien members of the Shakespearean cast on morals charges.

According to the records of Feighan's Immigration Subcommittee, Gielgud was convicted on October 22, 1963, in the West London Magistrate's Court, on the charge of "importing male persons for immoral purposes." The evidence involved a 12-year-old boy. Gielgud was convicted and fined 10 pounds.

Despite this record, Feighan has ascertained that the State Department granted Gielgud a "waiver" to enter the U. S. to direct a production of "Hamlet" on Broadway next month. Burton is the star in the play.

Secretary Rusk approved this "waiver" on the recommendation of Abba Schwartz, controversial head of the Bureau of Security & Consular Affairs.

Attorney General Robert Kennedy is being bluntly asked by Feighan to revoke Gielgud's "waiver." Feighan has made this demand in a formal letter and in several phone calls citing the morals conviction.

Because of the conviction, the "waiver" is essential for Gielgud to enter the U. S. under the immigration laws. He is now in Canada directing the "Hamlet" cast. The play is scheduled to open in New York April 8, for a 12-week run that reportedly is already sold out.

Feighan's militant challenge includes other ailen members of the cast. He wants the Immigration Service to thoroughly investigate them on the ground his committee has information indicating "inadmissability" for moral reasons.

Curious Explanation — So far Feighan has been given the runaround by the Atorney General.

Kennedy has ducked both Feighan's "waiver" revocation demand and a meeting with him to discuss the matter.

Despite Feighn's personal letter and phone calls, he has been unable to arrange a conference with Kennedy on this explosive issue. The latter's assistants have told Feighan the Attorney General is too busy making speeches about juvenile delinquency.

They explained that Kennedy has a "tight schedule" of out-of-town addresses this month in his drive against juvenile delinquency.

To Feighan this doesn't make sense. He is unable to understand why the government should spend millions combatting juvenile delinquency when top officials of the State and Defense Departments grant visa "waivers" to aliens convicted of morals charges involving minors.

Inquiry by Feighan's committee has established that Gielgud's "waiver" was approved by Secretary Rusk after a "routine review" by Schwartz's bureau. All the records on this case are before Kennedy, but aides have told Feighan he "hasn't had the time to make a personal review." They were unable to indicate when Kennedy would get around to the matter.

Meanwhile, immigration authorities have reported that Gielgud used his "waiver" to come to New York last week to discuss his play with theater officials.

Abba Schwartz, head of the Consular Bureau, who recommended the "waiver," is under fire by the House Committee on Un-American Activities. It is investigating charges he approved a visa for a Japanese who is a member of the Communist Party in his country.

Schwartz has long been under attack on Capitol Hill. The Senate Internal Security Committee, headed by Senator James Eastland, D-Miss., has grilled him several times.

Feighan has the unanimous backing of his committee on this issue. He is making no bones of his determination to summon both Secretary Rusk and Attorney General Kennedy for questioning if actor Burton and director Gielgud are permitted to enter the U. S.

"The law is the law, and I intend to see it enforced without fear or favor," Feighan told his committee. He was heartily assured they are fully behind him.

Getting The Ax—A key background figure in that highly organized and well-financed New Hampshire write-in drive for Attorney General Kennedy was a close partisan of his—Paul Corbin, Wisconsinite and former staff member of the Democratic National Committee.

In fact, there apparently was a direct connection between Corbin's backstage operations in New Hampshire and his sudden departure from the National Committee. It was after this that he appeared in New Hampshire to spark-plug the campaign for a big write-in vote for "Bobby" Kennedy.

Dear Abby

A Sadly Mistaken Child

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY:

I am 16 years old and five months pregnant. The father of my baby is marrying me pretty soon, but neither of us wants the baby. We can't afford it and, besides, I don't want to stay married to this boy the rest of my life. (Just long enough to have the baby.) I am wondering if one of your readers wants a baby. If they pay my hospital bill, they can have mine.

MADE A MISTAKE

DEAR MADE:

Get in touch with your Family Service Agency, or a reputable adoption agency. They conduct a thorough investigation of all applicants who wish to adopt babies in order to assure the babies of good homes. You've already made one mistake. I urge you not to make another by handing over your baby as you would a puppy or a kitten to anyone who has a few dollars.

DEAR ABBY:

Why do all the little sawed-off runts ask tall women for dates? I am a woman who is 5' 8", and it seems that all the runty men want to date me. I have gone out with men half a head shorter than myself because I didn't know how to turn them down without hurting their feelings. Don't they realize that a woman feels ridiculous walking down the street with a man who is shorter than herself? Please put this in your column, Abby, so those little spuirts will pick on someone their own size.

LIKES 'EM TALL

DEAR LIKES:

It may surprise you to learn that not all women share your point of view. A short man who asks a tall woman for a date is paying her a great compliment. He assumes that she has the intelligence to measure a man for what he is—not for how much of him there appears to be.

Speaking Of Your Health:

New Report On Arthritis

By Lester L. Coleman, M. D.

A conference on arthritis was held recently in Rome to review the advances made towards the prevention, control and cure of rheumatoid arthritis. Twenty-three nations participated.

It was agreed that, despite the difficulty at arriving at the ideal program for each individual patient, the possibilities for treatment are much more encouraging and more varied than is generally believed.

Professor A. Robecchi of Turin, Italy, related his experience in the successful treatment of rheumatoid arthritis. He felt that the programs should include drugs, physical therapy, thermal baths, mud packs, surgery when indicated, diet and a regime of mild exercise. This union of forces produced in many cases more lasting and gratifying results.

Found To Be Beneficial

Drugs found to be beneficial included the salicylates and the corticosteroids (cortisone). There are additional, newly-created chemical agents now being evaluated for their effect and side effects before being used in general treatment.

In specially selected cases, many types of orthopedic operations have been effective in returning rheumatoid arthritis patients to almost normal function.

The ideal combination of available remedies is custom-designed to fit the individual needs of each patient.

Important Elements

Occupational therapy, exercise and psychological support are vital to the total rehabilitation of the patient.

The health conference recognized the unfortunate fact that at present there is no single prescribed cure for this type of arthritis. But within the framework of modern medicine there are still many health benefits to be derived.

Programs of treatment and rehabilitation offer encouragement and hope to each individual suffering from rheumatoid arthritis. Patients should also be heartened by the knowledge that medical science never ceases to seek new avenues to recovery and sustained health.

"Only A Sprain"

"It's nothing. It's only a sprain" is the frequent plea of the patient whose family insists he see a doctor. All too often "only a sprain" turns out to be "only a fracture."

Ankles, knees, shoulders and wrists can be damaged by a seemingly slight injury. Muscles, tendons and blood vessels may be stretched and torn.

sprain or stieint6e66ttsfl'Asl

A self-diagnosis of simple sprain or strain can not safely be made because the symptoms of pain, swelling, discoloration and tenderness are common to both fractures and lesser injuries.

Effective Measure

Even before a doctor has examined the injury, the immediate application of cold packs, with ice or cold wet towels, followed by heat after several hours, is a dependable and effective measure for relieving the discomfort of both sprains and fractures.

Any other treatment, such as splinting, bandaging or taping should be performed only under the expert guidance of a physician after thorough clinical and X-ray examination. If it's a leg that's injured, it is advisable to keep off it until the doctor examines it.

When fractures are neglected by a casual disregard of the seriousness of an injury, permanent limitation may result. Only a doctor may safely say, "It's only a sprain."

These columns are designed to relieve your fears about health through a better understanding of your mind and body. All the hopeful new advances in medicine reported here are known to doctors everywhere.

Your individual medical problems should be handled by your own doctor. He knows you best.

Mausoleum

A mausoleum is a magnificent tomb, so called from the tomb of King Mausolus.

Mausolus was the ruler of Caria, a small kingdom in Asia Minor. He died in 353 B.C. and his devoted wife, Queen Artemisia, ordered a splendid edifice built as a burial place for him.

The white marble structure was built by some of the best architects of that time and was decorated by some of the era's foremost sculptors. The fact that the tomb ranked as one of the seven wonders of the ancient world attests to its magnificence

Barrett Twp. School Water Pure, 3 Testers Report

SWIFTWATER — The Pocono Mountain Joint School Board heard letters Wednesday night from three water testers noting that Barrett Elementary Center water is now pure.

Water at the school, supplied by the Mountain Water Co., had been found contaminated during January by the Pocono Biological Center.

A letter was read from Dr. E. O. Headrick of Mt. Pocono. It stated that a test was run on the Barrett water and it produced negative results.

Negative results were also found by the Pocono Biological Labs in a recent test.

William J. Bries, a Scranton chemist, also sent the board a letter stating he found no contamination in the Mountainhome Water Company's water.

The board said that the source of the contamination should be found, otherwise the danger might reoccur.

The board received a letter from the Pennsylvania State School - board Committee urging the board to write local state committeemen and try to defeat constitutional revision. The argument proposed by the letter was that revision would knock out local authority financing of schools.

The board noted that two boilers in the Tobyhanna Elementary School will be replaced, after hearing a letter from Dante F. Bertagna of the American Casualty Co. recommending replacement of the boilers. Replacement will cost $11,000, the board added.

The board then heard a report from the Building and Grounds Committee. In one item, the committee denied a request from the teachers asking to install an exhaust fan in the teacher's lounge at the teachers' expense.

One of the over-100 teachers present asked, "Why?"

Howard Hartshorn said that one of the committee members had said, "Teachers shouldn't be smoking there, anyway."

Referred to Committee

John Montgomery said that if there was no cost to the jointure, he didn't know why the fan couldn't be installed. The matter was referred back to the committee for further study.

The contract with Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. to install power lines for lights to the athletic field was brought up. It was deferred until contracts for additions to the field are let.

The committee approved a motion that $37,885 for repairs to elementary schools be included in the budget. The board noted that the money—less $1,950 — was included in the budget.

The committee also recommended to the board that $8,615 for repairs to junior — senior high school equipment be included in the budget. The board noted that slightly over $5,000 was allocated for this purpose.

Meeting On Bushkill's Status Set

PHILADELPHIA — The Water Resources Association of the Delaware River Basin announced yesterday that a public informational meeting dealing with the Tocks Island dam and reservoir project will be held at the firehouse in Bushkill April 16, starting at 8 p.m.

The Bushkill meeting will have two major objectives: (1 to bring the residents of the Bushkill area up-to-date on the status and schedule of the Tocks Island project; and (2) to give the residents of the area information they will need to help them decide if they want to relocate the village of Bushkill to a new town site.

Representatives of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and other Federal and State agencies with operating and planning responsibilities will speak at the meeting. Representatives of all agencies that will be involved with the Tocks Island project are expected to be present to answer questions.

The WRA-DRB, as the sponsor of the meeting, has extended an invitation to the public to attend. Residents of the Bushkill area are especially urged to attend.

Further details on the program for the meeting will be announced in early April.

Chestnuthill Approves '64 Budget

BRODHEADSVILLE — Chestnuthill Twp. Supervisors, at a special meeting Wednesday night in Chestnuthill Elementary School, approved the proposed budget of $50,635.48.

In approving the budget the supervisors maintained a four mill tax on the current $2,995,950 assessed valuation on real estate and a $5 per capita tax.

The budget shows $1,970 for administrative expenses. This includes $350 as payment to the supervisors; $1,200, secretary-treasurer salary; $120, auditors; $50, supplies; $100, bonds for the officials, and $150, solicitor fees.

The tax collector's commission is $900. The only other expense for the tax collector is $50 to cover his bond.

Total fire protection is $1,456.90. This includes a $1,000 contribution to the West End Fire Co. in Brodheadsville, and payment of $456.90 to the fireman's relief.

Total expenses for highways in the township is $38,000. This includes $2,000, snow removal; $1,500, repairs to tools and machinery; $16,000, road construction, and $10,000 for maintenance and repair of township roads and bridges.

Also listed as expenses are: $70 for the annual supervisors convention; $20 for dues to the township supervisors assn.; $21 for Pennsylvania Township News; $125.70, insurance; $120, advertising, and $1,200 for operation of the township dump.

The budget also notes an estimated $20,000 from the State Motor License Fund.

Employers Urged To Aid Guard Duty

EASTSTROUDSBURG — Col. John J. Remetta, commander of the 3rd Infantry Brigade, Pennsylvania Army National Guard, has appealed to Northeastern Pennsylvania employers to move swiftly in approving military leave for area guardsmen to attend Summer training from July 11 to 25.

The colonel has directed all men under his command to inform employers of their obligation to attend the two-week field exercises at Camp A. P. Hill, Va. Attendance at the encampment is mandatory, and employers are required to release workers for the two weeks, the colonel pointed out.

He urged employers, however, to look on the obligation as a "voluntary commitment" by the Guardsman to the defense of the nation. "We have received almost total cooperation in the past from employers," Col. Remetta recalled, "and I hope this fine relationship can continue."

Area units that will participate in the encampment:

Headquarters and Headquarters Company, Third Infantry Brigade, Headquarters and Headquarters Co., 1st Battalion, 109th Infantry, Headquarters and Headquarters Co., 2nd Battalion, 109th Infantry all stationed at thhe Col. Watres Armory, Scranton.

Also Co. A, 1st Battalion, 109th Honesdale; Co. B, 1st Battalion, Carbondale; Co. C, 1st Battalion, East Stroudsburg; Co. A, 2nd Battalion, Pittston; Co. B, 2nd Battalion, Williamsport, and Co. C, 2nd Battalion, Berwick.

Stroud Union Board To Meet

STROUDSBURG — The board of directors of the Stroud Union School District will hold a meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the high school library, according to Dr. John Lim, board secretary.

Sommers Named Chairman Of Israel Bonds Drive

STROUDSBURG — Louis Sommers, outstanding Jewish community leader, has been named chairman of the Stroudsburg Committee for State of Israel Bonds 1964 campaign, with Rabbi Bernhard Presler serving as honorary chairman, it was announced yesterday.

"I feel deeply honored and privileged to head this year's Israel Bond Campaign, Sommers stated. He urged the Stroudsburg community to support "to the utmost" the 1964 Israel Bond campaign.

"With the aid of Israel Bond dollars," he declared, "we are helping to build a stronger, more prosperous Israel in a concrete demonstration of the growing and enduring partnership between the Jews of America and the people of Israel".

"The year 1964 marks two epic milestones of Israel, stated Mr. Sommers "namely, the celebration of Israel's sixteenth anniversary as a free nation, and the second year of the redemption of Israel Bonds. It also sees Israel at the threshold of new and greater achievements.

"The giant strides Israel has made in the economic development of the upper half of the country must now be duplicated in the tremendous task of reclaiming the Negev desert to the south. Under the impact of increased Israel Bond investments, the national irrigation system must be completed to bring water to arid regions. Construction of the new deep water harbor at Ashdod must be accelerated, and new development towns that dot the desert must be built up to receive the steady wave of new immigrants who need homes and factories and farms, schools, roads and railroads to become self-sustaining.

"The pattern established and followed so successfully in the north must be adapted to the south, not only to absorb many newcomers, but to broaden the scope of the country's economic growth. With the help of Israel Bonds, more than 1,250,000 immigrants have been turned into productive citizens since the State of Israel was proclaimed on May 1948.

"It is highly significant that Israel Bonds have played a major role in the emergence of Israel as a dynamic young democracy that has not only provided a haven and home for large sections of the Jewish people, but has been extending an increasing measure of guidance and technical assistance to many other young countries in Asia, Africa and Latin America" Mr. Sommers said.

"The redemption of the Israel Bonds provides inspiring evidence of Israel's economic growth and stability. I know that this will be encouraging to those who wish to identify themselves with the historic redemption of Israel through participation in the 1964 Israel Bond effort in Stroudsburg.

The Israel Bond drive in Stroudsburg, Sommers reported will culminate in a gala event, A Night in Israel, Sunday March 22, 1964 at 8 p.m. at Temple Israel, at which time a prominent entertainer will appear.

Six Deeds Filed At Courthouse

STROUDSBURG — Six deeds were filed yesterday in the office of Mrs. Jeannette F. Batory, Monroe County Recorder.

They were John H. and Janet Richards of Middle Smithfield Twp. to themselves; 51.7 acres in Middle Smithfield Twp. The husband wished to include his wife's name officially on the deed.

Nathan and Ethel Abeloff of East Stroudsburg filed three deeds yesterday. The first was to Carl and Pauline R. Cain of East Stroudsburg, property in East Stroudsburg.

The second was to Charles A. and Jean G. Eldridge of Stroud Township, property in Stroud Township; the third to Robert E. and Mary Lou Hedglin of Stroud Township, property in Stroud Twp.

Also Pocono Summit Lakes, Inc. to Vincent and Marie Pravato of 1813-76th St., Brooklyn, N.Y., property in Coolbaugh Twp.; Arthur L. and Mary J. Yetter of Marshalls Creek to Patrick and Charles J. Finnegan, 190 W. 24th St., Bayonne, N.J., property in Middle Smithfield Twp.

5 Children Die In Jersey Fire

VINELAND, N.J. (UPI) — Four brothers and sisters, all under four years of age, died Thursday in a fire which swept their frame home in nearby Norman while their 18-year-old mother was at their grandparents' home 75 feet away.

Firemen recovered the bodies of Rosa Colon, 3, her sister Milogra, 17 months, and their brother Andres, 6 months, from the ruins after they put out the fire in the converted two-car garage.

Marco Colon Jr., 2, the fourth child, died in the ambulance enroute to Newcomb Hospital here.

Mrs. Marion Diaz River Colon, the children's mother, was admitted to the hospital in a state of shock.

State Police Investigator Charles Salter said the four children were sleeping in a bedroom when the fire broke out before noon.

Salter said the fire was believed to have started from an overheated kerosene stove.

Marco Colon Sr., 31, the father, was at work at the time.

Surgeon To Aid Adventists' Plan To Stop Smoking

STROUDSBURG — Dr. Conrado Tojino, surgeon of Easton, Pa. will be one of the team of three doctors who will be helping Pastor Bruce J. Fox conduct the "Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking" which gets under way at the local YMCA here Sunday at 7:30.

Dr. Conrado Tojino

Completing the team will be Drs. Irving Jones and Russell Youngberg, both of Reading Institute of Rehabilitation.

Non-religious in nature, the plan will be composed of group-therapy sessions, including films, talks, group discussions, and the "buddy system". Each person attending the plan will be presented with his own personal control-book to follow each day.

The plan has been in operation for the past two and one-half years and is sponsored free of cost by the Seventh-day Adventist church. Information and free tickets can be had by phoning pastor Fox.

Pastor Fox stated that even though some cannot attend for the full five days, it will be beneficial to many by attending just several sessions.

The "Five - Day Plan" has been 70 per cent effective for those who want to quit smoking and need a little extra encouragement.

'Y' Gifts Ups Fund To $10,000

STROUDSBURG — The board of directors of the Monroe County Young Mens Christian Assn. was told two recent gifts from bequests have brought the local association's endowment fund to $10,000.

Peirce Harley, general secretary, made the report at the board's monthly meeting this week in the board room of the YMCA in Stroudsburg. Twenty-eight board members attended the dinner - business meeting.

The board hired Kenny Benner of Quakertown to work in the physical department under John Jacobi. Benner will assume his duties this fall. He was recommended by Joseph Small, chairman of the personnel committee.

Harley told the board the YMCA of Eastern Pennsylvania will hold its annual Spiritual Emphasis Retreat this weekend at The Inn at Buck Hill Falls. Also the 1964 state YMCA convention will be held in Allentown, May 1 and 2

Committees reporting at the meeting were budget and finance, William Moran, chairman; personnel and nominating, Joseph Small, chairman; house, Loring Cramer, chairman; membership, Jesse Pierson, chairman; adult, Dr. Richard Luce, chairman; and physical, Allan Sterner, chairman.

Innovation Saves Wear And Tear

A "Conversation pit" tucked in the corner of the living room of this classic two-story home so successfully fills a need of present day living that the idea might well become the newest housing trend.

It provides a nook that's neither totally formal nor totally informal — precisely what has been needed ever since the emergence of the family room which brought rather severe, and not altogether satisfactory, changes in America's living patterns.

Architect Herman H. York, who designed this fine traditional home as H-19 in the House of the Week series, explains his innovation:

"The family room never was intended to completely take over the function of a basement rumpus room, but that's what has happened in many cases. Nor was it designed to eliminate all use of the living room, but there are many families who never even go into the living room any more.

"This 'conversation pit,' as I call it, provides a place for relaxing, reading, TV viewing and the like, which is apart from the living room but still a part of it."

In other words, this innovation lets you save wear and tear on the good furniture — something the family room originally was designed to do — but still allows you to enjoy the pleasant surroundings.

The house also has a first floor informal room, one which customarily would be designated the family room. But York calls it what it actually is: a recreation room. He doesn't underestimate it's importance (indeed he selected it instead of the living room as the location of the fire place) but he recognizes it is not, at least as far as the adults in most families are concerned, the total answer to informal yet gracious living.

The house contains a basic area of 1,686 square feet, the first floor living area. There are 1,205 square feet of living area upstairs. The garage adds 452 square feet. Over-all dimensions are 64 feet four inches wide by 45 feet eight inches deep.

ADDITIONAL DETAILS

In all his designs York seems to agree with the poet who spoke of "the beauty of simplicity."

This house has the uncluttered elegance of colonial design. There is a minimum of brick accenting the wood and wrought iron portico at the formalized main entrance. The balance of the exterior is finished in wood shingle, either sawn shingles or light weight shakes. York recommends natural shingles with white trim and shutters; the brick provides all the additional color needed.

Complementing the angled forms of the exterior are the graceful curves carefully designed inside.

A curved stairway with a plant arrangement in front graces the foyer. Opposite it, the wall of one of the two coat closets also is curved. Another curve is used at the two-step entrance to the conversation pit from the living room, a thoughtfully subtle continuation of the theme.

A large powder room located behind the staircase is easily accessible from all major downstairs living areas. The second downstairs bath, complete with stall shower, also is ideally located. It allows the adjoining spare room to be a self-contained overnight guest suite, and it also is convenient to the terrace. Its shower would be especially appreciated if a backyard pool ever is added.

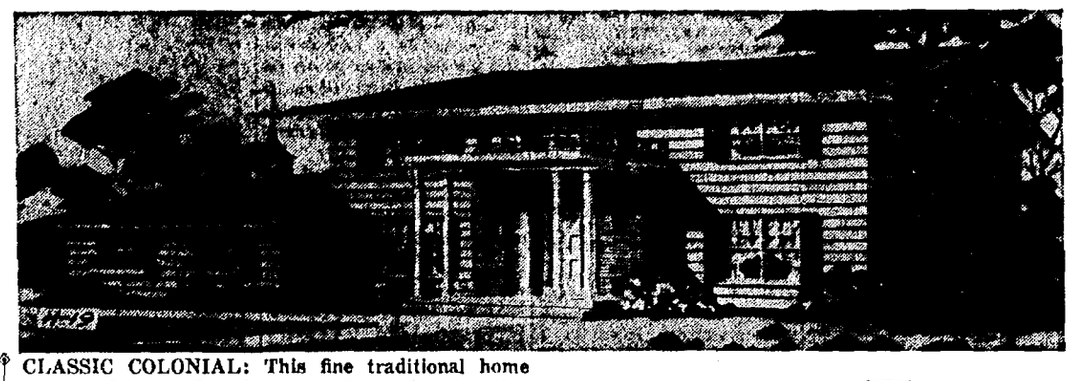

The housekeeping area is a nicely arranged ensemble featuring a step-saving U-shaped kitchen, with breakfast room adjoining on one side and laundry-mud room on the other.

Upstairs, four bedrooms are carefully arranged around a minimum of central hall space. Closet area is abundant in all the rooms, as a glance at the accompanying floor plan will show; there is even a walk-in linen closet.

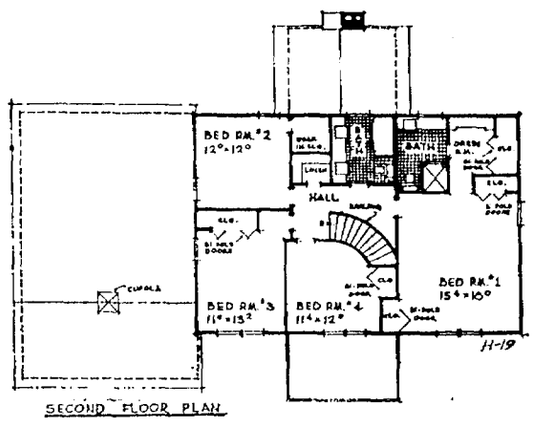

Should the size of the plot prohibit location of the garage doors on the side (a minimum of 28 feet of clearance is necessary), they can be placed in front without upsetting the architectural balance.

H-19 STATISTICS

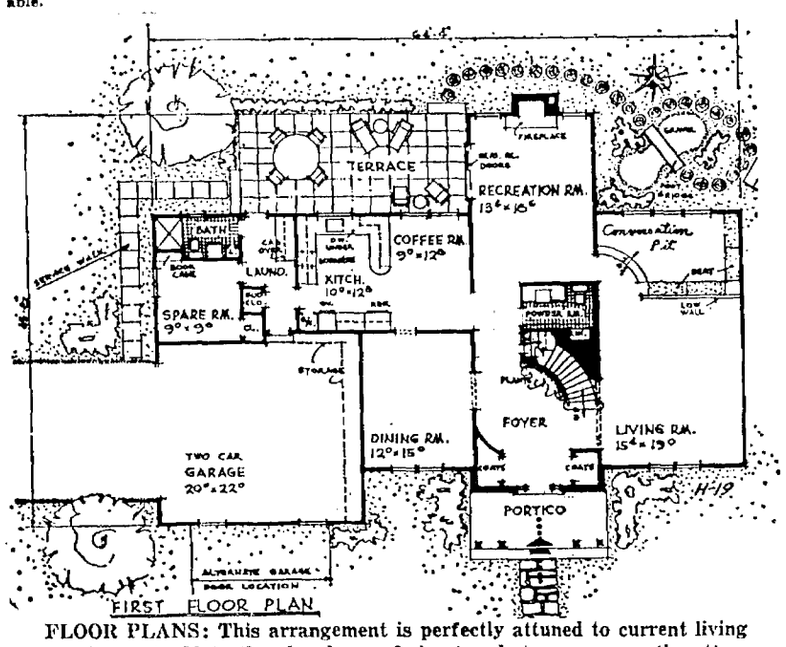

A traditional two-story home with four (or five) bedrooms and four baths. The first floor contains 1,686 square feet not counting the 452-square-foot garage. The second floor contains 1,205 square feet. There is a full basement. The over-all dimensions are 64 feet four inches wide by 45 feet eight inches deep. Plan shows side entry garage, but garage doors may be located in front if minimum 28 foot side entry area is not available.

CLASSIC COLONIAL: This fine traditional home contains four (or five) bedrooms. It's main attraction —an innovation in current housing—is a "conversation pit" two steps below the living room which lets you save wear and tear on the formal furnishings but still enjoy the pleasant surroundings.

SECOND FLOOR PLAN

FIRST FLOOR PLAN

FLOOR PLANS: This arrangement is perfectly attuned to current living requirements. Note the abundance of closet and storage space; the attention given to informal daily living; the luxuriousness of the sleeping areas. The garage doors may be located on the front if the size of the plot prohibits side entry.

Rains No Threat With Sump Pumps

As the days continue to lengthen, it becomes more and more evident that warmer weather is close at hand. Along with the welcome spring warmth, though, we're also due for a good deal of rain which often can be quite destructive. The basement of your home is a prime target.

Flash floods, broken mains and general seepage can deluge your cellar with several inches of water overnight and ruin belongings kept there — particularly valuable equipment such as electric motors on washers and heating units.

The Plumbing - Heating-Cooling Information Bureau suggests a preventive measure for this "submerged cellar" problem that has proven successful in millions of homes throughout the country. It is the installation of a sump pump, sometimes called a cellar drainer.

Helpful Hints For Painting Plywood

An attractive finish that does not show the grain is easy to obtain on fir plywood, the most popular material used by the home craftsman, if the surface is first given a coat of penetrating resin sealer to equalize absorption.

The first step, of course, is to prepare the surface. It must be sanded as smooth as possible, be clean and free of any traces of oil, grease or laminating glue. Nail holes and breaks in the surface should be filled and sanded when dry.

If you are planning to end up with a colored, opaque finish which hides the surface completely, brush on a coat of pigmented penetrating sealer. After it has dried, sand lightly to restore a smooth surface, and remove all sandings with your vacuum cleaner or a cloth dipped in mineral spirits.

Now for the second coat. If the top coat is to be a gloss enamel, the second coat should consist of equal parts of enamel undercoat and the top coat. If the topcoat is to be a latex, apply a second coat of the resin sealer. Sand lightly before applying the final coat by brush, spray or roller.

When you purchase your sealer and top coat, be sure you are getting a quality product, because only quality paints and sealers will give you the service you want and expect.

Many people prefer a so-called natural finish on good quality plywood, one that shows the grain of the wood. First of all, you must select plywood which has an attractive pattern and is free of blemishes and plugs. Next, sand the wood as much as possible.

Now brush on a coat of clear penetrating resin sealer. After this has dried, sand lightly with fine or extra-fine paper. More than likely you will want to color the wood to some degree. You can either apply a coat of wood stain, a coat of colored penetrating sealer, or you can tint clear resin sealer with color-in-oil of the desired shade, reducing the sealer 25 per cent with paint thinner. Whichever you use, let stand for a few minutes and then wipe off to get the color you want.

After the color coat has dried thoroughly, sand lightly as before, and then brush on one or two coats of varnish of the desired sheen.

For modern blond effects, do this after the first coat of sealer has dried. Thin white pigmented resin sealer or enamel undercoat 50-50 with ordorless paint thinner and brush on the surface. Let stand for a few minutes and wipe off with a clean, lintless cloth. After this has dried thoroughly, protect the surface with one or two coats of varnish.

BE SURE TO STIR

Modern paints should be stirred well before using to be sure that the pigment is thoroughly distributed, says the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association.

By ANDY LANG

The type of joint used in a woodworking project — and the manner in which it is put together — usually tell volumes about the skill of the person who performed the job.

Professional woodworkers make their selection from a wide variety of possible joints. The average home woodworker must rely on the more simple joints, not only because he lacks the necessary skill, but because special tools are often required.

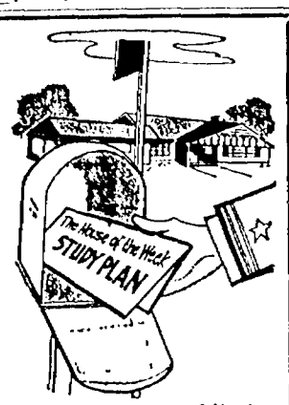

There is one joint, however, that has a professional appearance and yet can be handled by anyone. This is the dowel joint. A dowel, often called a dowel pin or dowel rod, is merely a stick of wood with a round shape. It comes in many different lengths and diameters, the most usual length being 36 inches and the most usual diameters ranging from one-eighth of an inch to one inch. Commercially made dowels are available in lumber yards, building supply dealers and hardware stores, as well as by mail from companies which specialize in making up kits containing dowels of assorted diameters. Most dowels are made of hardwood, such as birch or maple.

A dowel joint — to simplify it somewhat — is a joint in which two pieces of wood are held together with one or more dowels, adequately glued. The dowels strengthen the joint and give it a finished appearance.

The important thing in making a good dowel joint is seeing that the holes in each piece of wood are aligned perfectly. This can be done by measurement alone, but since absolute accuracy is essential—even to the tiniest fraction of an inch — some other method of alignment is recommended. You can buy a dowel jig that enables you to line up the dowel holes very simply. Still another effective method is with inexpensive dowel centers. These are small, usually metal, cylinders. The holes are bored in one piece of wood and the dowel centers slipped into the holes. Ridges on the centers prevent them from dropping all the way into the holes. Also, each center has a tiny, sharp point on it. Press the two pieces of wood together and then take them apart. There will be small indentations on the second piece of wood. The holes then are bored in those indentations.

But whether you use any of the ready-made dowel jigs to enable you to make the joints, or rely on some homemade contraption, as many persons do, the important thing is that the dowel holes be aligned perfectly. And before applying glue to the dowel joints, file a few ridges in the dowels. This is to give the glue and air somewhere to escape when the dowels are placed into the holes. For the same reason, it's a good idea to make the dowel holes slightly deeper than the length of the dowels. Some special types of dowels come with these ridges already in them.

An Open Letter To Senator William Z. Scott:

VOTE AGAINST MORE HARDSHIP AND SUFFERING

The unemployment compensation bill scheduled for Senate vote TODAY, is the severest blow to this county's working people since the Unemployment Compensation Insurance Law was enacted 25 years ago. The Bill (Senate Bill 3) can effect not just those who are now jobless, but every working person who at any time becomes unemployed. Its tricky gimmicks eliminate completely or reduce severly the amount and duration of many benefits now provided by law. The Bill also hurts the elderly, the working mothers, the seasonal and part time workers and those who receive vacation pay, severance pay and other fringe benefits. It also makes the present stringent rules much more difficult to comply with. It threatens us all.

The bill will take from our unemployed citizen $55 million yearly in reduced benefits, causing irreparable harm to the economic climate on every Main Street, and it will force upon many of the thousands of jobless in this county the humiliation of seeking public assistance.

Furthermore, the Bill will not bring in new jobs or industry. Likewise, the tax reduction that one in every seven employers will receive from the Bill will not generate a single new job. In fact, the loss in purchasing power will cause further unemployment.

We believe that you are opposed to any further hardship and suffering by our citizens in this area. In behalf of the thousands of unemployed citizens who become affected in the future, we sincerely Urge you to vote against Senate Bill (3).

Respectfully yours,

United Labor Council of Lower Luzerne and Carbon Counties
Central Labor Union of Monroe and Pike Counties
Carbondale Central Labor Union
In behalf of all Working Citizens in this county
Pennsylvania AFL-CIO

HELP! Telephone State Senator William Z. Scott at the State Capitol in Harrisburg Now. Urge that he Vote "NO" on Senate Bill "3".

Tappers Tote Sap To Shanty

By Peggy Bancroft
Daily Record Correspondent

NEWFOUNDLAND: In the Poconos, a country where hard maples number in the millions, the trees are sprouting buckets and spiles and the chief activity in the woodlands is the toting of maple sap to the "sap shanty."

Some of the tappers busied themselves early in February, but most of the regulars are really just getting under way. And the sap is running so briskly that it's practically a fulltime business at this point!

Warm temperatures during the day and cold snaps at night add up to good sapping weather in the Poconos, where tapping for the sweet sap, which, when boiled down, makes mighty good pancake topping, is a business in which whole families participate.

The Curtis Farm in Sterling and the Willard Croft Farm in Greentown are two of the really big producers in this area. The Curtis Farm pioneered the use of plastic tubing to convey the sap to the gathering pans several years ago. This is a real time-and-effort saver, especially when the snow is deep in the woodlands, as it has been, and still is, this year.

Not Easy Job

The work involved in "squeezing" a pitcherful of syrup from the necessary 20-to-50 gallons of sap is not an easy job. It means not only hard labor, but also know-how, for sap boiled past the proper point sugars, is no good for syrup.

Making syrup is an uncertain business, too. The wind has to be just right, or the sap stops running. And when it is right, everything goes at top speed, including the man who is making the syrup.

The arrival of the tree-tapping season is important in the Poconos, and it is of interest, also, because it heralds the arrival of Spring. The sap-bucket, hanging from a maple tree, is an unmistakable sign that Spring is on its way!

Colonial farmers purchased their land from William Penn . . .for 25 to 75 cents an acre . . .depending on the distance from Philadelphia.

Some of the old Canal boats used in Pennsylvania were divided into sections so they could be taken over the mountains on the Portage Railroad.

Pen Argyl Egg Hunt To Be Held At Weona Park

PEN ARGYL — Weona park was announced as the scene of the annual egg hunt for the children of Pen Argyl, at a recent meeting of the Lookout Volunteer Fire Co.

The hunt will be held at 2 p.m., March 28. The rain date is March 29.

It was announced that donations of colored eggs should be taken to the engine room at the fire house the morning of the hunt.

The decision to place the memorial plaque in the engine room as a memorial to all deceased members was agreed upon.

Walton Sadler, assistant fire chief, reported that there were no fires during the month and that the large truck had been out of service from Feb. 17 to Feb. 29 for extensive motor repairs.

Two-hundred feet of booster hose for the large truck to replace hose that has been on the truck since 1918 was announced.

Jack Edwards, president, appointed Charles Broad chairman of the Labor Day celebration committee.

A contribution to the local chapter of the American Field Service's annual spring bazaar to be held in the Youth Center Building April 2 to 4 was decided upon by the company.

The company gave permission to the Eastern Star of Pen Argyl to use the facilities of the fire company for the annual spaghetti dinner on May 2.

The company decided to participate in the Four - County Firemen's convention parade in Hellertown June 20, and the Pennsylvania State Firemen's convention parade in Williamsport Sept. 26.

It was decided to sponsor a clambake for the active members, retired members and their wives. William Morris, Floyd Frey and Harold Weber are committee members.

The refreshment committee was composed of Christy Snyder, John Sylvester, Joseph Surotchak and Sherwood Stancombe. The committee members for the April meeting are Harold Weber, David Weber, George Woolley Jr., and Kenneth Yetter.

Cadillac

THIS OWNER LOVES IT!

THIS OWNER LOVES IT!

THIS OWNER LOVES IT!

The three pictures above illustrate one reason for their enthusiasm. The top car is a 1963 model . . . the center car is a 1962 Cadillac . . . and the lower car is four years old. The styling through the years has evolved and refined, but each is unmistakably a Cadillac.

These owners share a common knowledge. Not even most new motor cars offer the degree of pleasure and reliability that come with a previously owned Cadillac.

First, there is Cadillac's renowned craftsmanship, which results in a car of unusual endurance.

Next, consider value. The equipment on a Cadillac of older vintage is still extra cost on most new cars . . . and includes such features as Hydra-Matic, power steering, power brakes, power windows on most models . . . plus many Cadillac engineering advancements that still have not found their way into other new 1964 cars.

And don't overlook Cadillac's reputation for operating economy—comparable to many smaller cars.

So when you make your next motor car investment, new or used, consider only one name—Cadillac.

Just Between Us — —

—By Bobby Westbrook

This is a big week for Girl Scouts: in church, on the streets, in Rallies and PTA meetings, they seem omnipresent. Actually, the fact that they're wearing their uniforms all through Girl Scout week makes it seem as if they've multiplied overnight.

Certainly the news has been bulging with Girl Scout doings, with the East Stroudsburg Neighborhood Rally last Saturday and the Stroudsburg Neighborhood this coming Saturday, and all the special activities in between.

Right now the news room is also bulging with Girl Scouts—Well, anyway Girl Scout cookies in all five varieties. Girl Scouts come in five varieties nowadays, too, it seems: Adults, seniors, juniors, cadettes and brownies, and all of them busy like beavers, especially this week.

Well, it's a long, long trail back to when we were Girl Scouts. I doubt if we were so real and earnest about it all—and while I can still tell a Spring beauty from an anemone, and a square knot from a granny, what I remember best of all is the echo of laughter.

I'm sure today's leaders get as exasperated with the giggles and the squabbles, the lopsided wicker baskets and the pied beds, but in the official communiques only the sweetness and light comes through.

Maybe they really are more loyal, trustworthy, kind and true than we were. Certainly they are prettier. But that, I insist, is because of their hair and their uniforms. I went through Girl Scouts when we were all one-eyed, since the other eye was completely covered by a side-swept bang that would have put the Beatles to shame.

Not that it mattered — not when we wore flat brimmed hats that covered our heads like pots, and khaki colored uniforms that wouldn't keep a press. That is when we weren't wearing knickers with the knee buttons eternally popping off so one leg dropped down almost to the high-laced sneakers.

But even if today's Girl Scouts have it all over us in every one of the Girl Scout laws, they'll never have more fun.

Mrs. Jay C. Gonzalez
(Arnold's Studio)

Miss Donna Marie Hummel Is Bride Of Jay Gonzalez

East Stroudsburg—Miss Donna Marie Hummel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nevin E. Hummel, of 68 South Green St., East Stroudsburg, was married on March 7 at 2:30 in the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church to Jay C. Gonzalez.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Clark Gonzalez, of 21 Macalliconer Ave., Woodstown, N. J.

Rev. Harold C. Eaton performed the ceremony. Eldred Gonzalez was soloist, singing "O Perfect Love," "I Love You Truly," and "Because," and following a special wedding Communion "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk peau de sole with three-quarter length sleeves, a fitted bodice trimmed with Alencon lace, and a semi-full skirt with a detachable chapel length train highlighted by a soft peau de sole bow falling from the neckline. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a tiered crown of seed pearls and crystals. She carried a white Bible with an orchid.

Mrs. Jack Wilda, of 217 Analomink St., East Stroudsburg, sister of the bride, was her matron of honor. Maid of honor was Miss Joan Warner, of Brookside Ave., East Stroudsburg.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. John Mortimer, Woodstown, N. J.; Mrs. Jan Gonzalez, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, Ashland, N. J.; Mrs. Leslie Hummel, Hatboro, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Jackie Tompkins, New Hartford, N. Y.

The honor attendants wore gowns of pale blue with fitted bodice and bell-shaped skirts with a bow at the waistline, matching velvet crowns with a veil attached with a white rosebud and carried a cascade of white roses and chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids wore similar ensembles in royal blue.

Cheryl Jean Wilda, niece of the bride and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilda, was flower girl. Dale Leslie Hummel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie C. Hummel, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Jan C. Gonzalez, brother of the bridegroom, of 16 Prospect Ave., Ashland, N. J., was best man. Ushers were Irwin Hand, John Mortimer, Ted Lankitus, Donald Durr and Sidney Jones.

The bride's mother wore a dress of aqua nylon lace over taffeta with matching accessories and a corsage of white rosebuds. The bridegroom's mother wore aqua satin brocade with matching accessories and also had a corsage of white rosebuds.

A reception was held at Heddy's Hawaiian Room with Sammy Canova's band providing the music.

Leaving for a wedding trip, the bride wore a gray and white knit with black patent accessories and a white pillbox hat.

After a honeymoon in San Juan, Puerto Rico, Mr. and Mrs. Gonzalez will make their home at 589 Central Ave., Stratford, N. J.

The bride, a graduate of Barrett High School and East Stroudsburg State College, is a teacher in the elementary school in Cherry Hill, N. J.

Her husband, a graduate of Woodstown High School and Geneva College, Beaver Falls, Pa., is a salesman for National Cash Register, Philadelphia.

Preventing Juvenile Crime Here

East Stroudsburg — Henry McCool, Juvenile Probation Officer in Monroe County, and James Marsh, Monroe County District Attorney, will join forces in discussing "Preventing Juvenile Crime" at the meeting of the East Stroudsburg Secondary Parent-Teachers Assn. on Monday night.

They will describe the situation regarding juvenile crime in Monroe County as it presently exists and offer suggestions as to how such crime can be prevented. Questions from the audience will be invited.

The general public is invited to attend the meeting which begins at 7:30 and will be held in the East Stroudsburg High School cafeteria.

Stroudsburg Girl Scout Rally Sat.

Stroudsburg — The Stroudsburg Neighborhood of the Scranton - Pocono Girl Scout Council will hold its ingathering for the Juliette Lowe World Friendship Fund on Saturday at the Stroud Union High school auditorium at 1:30 p.m.

Taking part will be members of the nine Brownie, eight Junior; four Cadette; and one Senior troop in the neighborhood.

The Juliette Low Fund is used to finance international exchange programs in Scouting. The local troops have also worked on the World School house project, making and filling cobbler's arpons with school supplies for children in the Philippines.

Planning the committee were Mrs. John Zloch, Mrs. Warren Loney and Mrs. Stephen Matox. All Girl Scouts, leaders and members of troop committees are urged to attend the rally.

Teachers On Court For Scholarships

Swiftwater — The teachers of the Pocono Mountain Joint School are willing to go to court to raise money for their Scholarship Fund, but it is the basketball mourt of the high school in Swiftwater tonight at 7 p.m.

To raise money for the Pocono Mountains Teachers Assn. scholarship fund which is used toward the college education of selected alumni of the high school, teams of teachers will play a double - header basketball games with teams from East Stroudsburg and Newfoundland.

The preliminary match will pit the elementary teachers, Arthur Gray, George Tessa, Russell Speicher, Tom Savidge, Ed Vogue and Jack Jones, against the faculty of East Stroudsburg Area Joint High School. Joe Ofalt will coach for Pocono Mountains and Michael Evans for East Stroudsburg.

The second match will feature the Pocono Mountains Senior High Faculty, coached by Allen Shollenberger against the Newfoundland Angels. Team members are Walt Sweetra, Jim Morris, John Wastak, Bart Dunlap, Bob Lane, Wayne Boyd, Glenn Rambo and Tom Peifer.

Other members of the faculty are also assisting in promoting the project of which Adolph Caprioli is general chairman. Clancy Dennis will clock; Joe Murray, score; Joe Battisto Ed Watto, Mrs. Catherine Rowe, Miss Genevieve Battisto and Ted Jarrett, door and tickets; Mrs. Eleanor Wunder, Justin Feltham, advertising; A Pope and Carol Saxe, program; Bart Dunlap, school publicity; Cora Mae Dyson, advance sales.

Parallels Of History DAR Theme

Stroudsburg — "Deep Shadows — Then and Now" will be the theme of the talk to be given by Earl Groner at the meeting of the Jacob Stroud Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, on Monday afternoon at 1:30 at the Stroud Community House.

Groner who is superintendent of the Stroud Union School District is active in the Monroe County Historical Society. His talk will deal with parallels of history.

Hat Show Successful For Young GOP

Swiftwater — The Young Women's Republican Council of Monroe County held their first Spring Hat show, "Top Knots 'n Bonnets" at the Paradise Community Center in Swiftwater on Tuesday night.

In spite of rains and snow, there was a good crowd, and an enthusiastic one. Modeling the millinery provided by the Merri-Lyn Shoppe were Mrs. James Van Hovenberg, Mrs. John Eget, Mrs. August Grant, Mrs. Roger Slutter, Mrs. Gerald Snyder, Miss Susan Snyder, Mrs. John Detrick and Mrs. David Toms. Miss Susan Snyder last week won the Miss Seventeen Model Contest.

Entertainment featured Spring song by Elana and Karla Davis, dressed in green and white for St. Patrick's Day. Kathy Williams sang "The Birch and I", a song composed by Mrs. Mervin Fontanella, with her sister Donna as accompanist.

The three-year-old Rosan twins proved competition for the adult models as they donned their mothers high heels and hats to demonstrate what every woman should wear to the polls on April 28.

Mrs. Fontanella served as commentator for the show and also was auctioneer with the yellow straw hat going to Mrs. Les Woodling of East Stroudsburg RD 3.

John Ferrebee and his children brought geraniums which were presented to guests with the last going to Mrs. Sophie Steidel of East Stroudsburg, 81, the oldest guest attending.

Refreshments were served by the committee which included Mrs. Clyde Cramer, Mrs. Glenn Sanborn and Miss June Heydt. The models assisted in serving.

Clearview PTA Honors Girl Scouts

Clearview — Honoring the Girl Scout troops sponsored by the Clearview School Parent-Teachers Assn., The PTA meeting was opened by a Color Guard from all of the troops.

Representing the Junior Scouts were Gerry Messner of Troop 306 and Jane Garland, Troop 355; Browlines, Marilyn Bush, Troop 319 and Susan Butz, Trop 312 with Mrs. John Zloch, leader of troop 306 in charge. Mrs. Ruth Zellers read the PTA prayer.

William Anthon, local photographer, showed two films, "March of Progress" and "The John Glenn Story."

Papers were distributed seeking volunteers for officers or executive board members as well as ideas of what parents would like to have discussed at meetings next year.

The table and refreshments were in the St. Patrick's Day theme with Mrs. Joyce Phillips and Mrs. Hilda Miklovich serving. They are from Edward Doneys fifth grade mothers.

Mrs. Albertson Again Heads War I Aux.

East Stroudsburg — Officers of Pocono Memorial Aux. of World War I Veterans were reelected at the meeting held Wednesday night at the American Legion Home in East Stroudsburg:

President, Georgia Alberston; first vice president, Mrs. Havlik; second vice president Mary Ziegenguss; secretary, Martha Smith; treasurer, Lydia Christenson; chaplain, Sadie Decker.

Bertha Muir was accepted as a new member. Viola Smith was a visitor. On display were a number of dolls dressed by the members to be used at the July carnival at the Wilkes-Barre Veterans Hospital. Last year there were 19 booths manned by members of the service organizations of which the Pocono Memorial Aux. is one.

After the meeting refreshments were served to men of the barracks and members of the auxiliary.

Spaghetti Supper Planned For St. Mary's

Mount Pocono — The annual spaghetti supper to be served by the Altar and Rosary Society of St. Mary of the Mount Church will be held at the Pocono Catholic Missions School on March 18, it was announced at the recent meeting in the church auditorium.

Serving will be from 5 to 7 p.m. with Mrs. William Saganich in charge of the kitchen; Mrs. George Reiz of the dining room, and Mrs. Thomas Sables and Mrs. Angelo Battisto in charge of tickets.

Mrs. Albert Snyder will make arrangement for the Communion Breakfast to be held in May.

Mrs. Reiz reported that 18 women from the society had attended the Day of Recollection on Saturday at the Missions School. Mrs. Michael Natishyn named Mrs. William Hardy, Mrs. William McCarthy, Mrs. Catherine Hardy and Mrs. Louis Hartman as hostesses for the April meeting.

Rev. William Cusick, moderator, spoke of Lent and Easter and plans for the coming season.

Mrs. Thomas Grady Jr and Miss Helen Grady served coffee after the meeting.

Marsh On Tour With Pittsburgh Symphony

Stroudsburg — Raymond Marsh, violist with the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, is now on concert tour with the orchestra while they are playing in the large cities of seven Southern States.

Marsh, former local man, is the son of Mrs. W. R. Erickson, Stroudsburg RD 3. The orchestra goes on tour for about a month twice a year, but this is the first time they have gone as far south as Florida. On their return trip they will be playing in Durham, N. C., and Richmond, Va.

Native Hut, Songs, Dances For Girl Scout Ingathering

East Stroudsburg—With "Life in the Philippines" as the theme of the Juliette Low Ingathering at the J. M. Hill School to inaugurate National Girl Scout Week for the East Stroudsburg Neighborhood Scouts, a native hut set on a large green mat formed the background for the songs and dances in native costume.

The hut was made from a large cardboard box covered with brown paper and a grass roof raised on wooden legs with a ladder to the entrance. It was flanked by two large palm trees, made by the Scouts, with a monkey hanging from the basketball net, and a native king being fanned by Scouts in native costume with yellow plastic rakes.

The flag ceremony was conducted by Troop 363, Mrs. Robert Lundergan, leader and included a reading "Hats Off! The Flag is Passing By" and a song "O Beautiful Banner."

Mrs. Warren Whittaker welcomed the Scouts, in the absence of Mrs. Alfred Sumberg.

The Juliette Low Ceremony featured songs by Troop 329, led by Mrs. Harrison Place, and an exercise "History of the Philippines" by Troop 335 of which Mrs. Richard Primrose is leader.

While Mrs. Roger Acker led the Scouts in singing, the Juliette Lowe representatives from each troop brought in their gifts. Each troop had made an apron and filled it with crayons, pads, pencils, coloring books and other items for children in the Philippines. The aprons were hung on a line, and the troop gift of money for the World Friendship fund was placed in a box.

The entertainment featured a native dance, demonstrated by Troop 351, led by Mrs. Samuel Coco, and then danced by all the girls before the closing ceremony when three candles, representing the past, present and future, were lighted by Troop 314, Mrs. Clifford Kintner, leader. Refreshments were served by Troop 318 with Mrs. Alfred Smith and Mrs. Josephine Honsberger as leaders.

Juliette Low Representatives and the troops they represented were Carmen Pascarella, 324; Leslie Smith and Charlene Bird, 318; Mary Jo McManus, 363; Betty Howell, Judy McCluskie, 331; Martha Levin, 313; Jacquelyn Kintner and Barbara Shook, 314; Lorraine Maaser, 358; Beth Taylor and Robin Shields, 335; Linda Scheirer and Carla Barnes, 301; Beverly Brister and Diane Zokowski, 328; Debra Rosso, 349; Ronann Clapper and Laurie Randall, 302; Carol Stokes, 351; Janice Schaller and Phyllis Decker, 308.

Taking part in the songs and decorations was Troop 329: Beth Ann Krug, Carmen Pascarella, Bernadine Turtzo, Cindy Ritter, Darlene Dotter, Cindy Smith, Betty Tomasch, Lois Whittaker, Connie Ellenberger and Kathy Werner.

In the history of the Philippines from Troop 335: Beth Taylor, Robin Shields, Nancy Smith, Patty Dreisbach, Denise Dotter, Susan Dunlap, Cindy May; in the flag ceremony from Troop 363: Mary Louise Delessio, Mary Jo McMannus, Janet Shafer, Susan Frantz, Marie Alice Kirney.

Dancers in Troop 351 were: B. Bolcar, K. Coco, Kathleen, Judy and Mary Jacques, Barbara Baker, Joanne Fleming, Susan Somers, Cecelia Lundergan, Liz Kutcher, Mary Wydra, Kathy Kushner, Janice Archer, Ellen Hart, Mary McLaughlin and Carol Stokes.

Song leaders and closing ceremonies featured Troop 314: Gail Smith, Barbara Shook, Jacquelyn Kintner and Harriet Horn.

Ushers from Troop 328 were Karen L. Eilenberger, Jayne Leaman, Diane Zukowski, Charlotte Frailey and Beverly Brister.

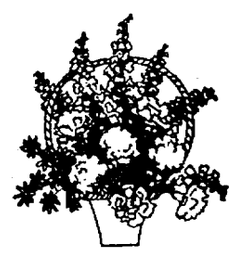

Hostesses from Troop 318 were Leslie Smith, Kathy Smith, Paulette Winters, Roslyn Carmella, Diane Sue Carmella, Gina Miller, Charlene Bird, Diane Read, Kathy Serfass, Barbara Thron, Karla Davis, Mary Hull and Ann Mae Bensley.

Let's talk Fashion

We try to keep a certain sense of proportion about rushing the seasons in styles. We don't, for instance, try to push wool dresses on the Fourth of July, but this week we couldn't resist bringing out some of our cotton coordinates. Mainly because they're so pretty, but for other reasons, too.

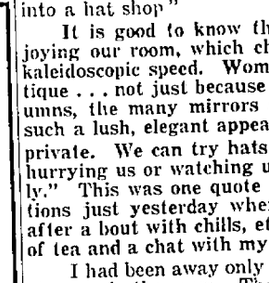

For one thing, it gives our stay-at-home customers a chance to get them a little broken in before their gallivanting Southern friends come home. They may have been freezing in cottons in Florida, but you can bet they'll be wearing them at home.

And for another thing, you never can tell when a nice warm spell might come along to make cottons the only comfortable wear. And in that line, may we call your attention to the David Crystal and Tara suits in tweedy-cotton in handsome black and brown mixture, in black and white, or in brown which would look perfect from now on.

But basically it's because we wanted you to see how handsome the skirts, mostly solids, look with the coordinated blouses in gay prints, with the printed cotton knits that can double as overblouses or jackets, with the striped jersey tops. And because we enjoy seeing how handsome you look in them.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

Never have I seen so much excitement as the Keystone Room here at Wyckoff's seems to be engendering. It has gotten to the stage where men as well as women say to me, "Now, what's the next thing in the Keystone Room?" One gentleman even went so far as to grumble, "Just as I became accustomed to sitting up there watching a travel film while my wife shopped, they turned it into a hat shop."

It is good to know that everyone seems to be enjoying our room, which changes from day to day with kaleidoscopic speed. Women love it as a millinery boutique . . . not just because its gray walls, its stately columns, the many mirrors and effective lighting give it such a lush, elegant appearance, but because "here it is private. We can try hats on by the dozen with no one hurrying us or watching us—it's so private and leisurely." This was one quote that I heard in several variations just yesterday when I came in for a few hours after a bout with chills, et cetera, and stopped for a cup of tea and a chat with my friend, Antoinette Vianello.

I had been away only a half day, but already I noted changes in the room. There was, for instance, a unique and charming montage on the screen at the front of the room, showing the long-lashed faces of women sipping tea in the shadow of the Eiffel tower. You know what clever gal did the art work, don't you? Naturally . . . Marlene Andrews! Who else could erect an Eiffel tower of blue paper in a couple of hours, and have it look so well!

Speaking of looking well—I think our tea table is quite lavish, and the little tables for four at either side are most attractive with crystal containers filled with artificial flowers as centerpieces. The tea service is an heirloom that belongs to George and Blanche Mackey. But have you noticed the tea cloth? It is white lace—a plastic, although no women believes it until she has actually felt it. It comes from our Domestics Department, is priced at 6.98 in this large size, and is machine washable. Since our tea table has been set up, we have sold a number of these cloths to housewives who like their tables to be beautiful but appreciate all the labor-saving devices and accessories of our modern day. As for the small tables — they appear to be covered in squares of eyelet-embroidered linen. Actually, these cloths too are of plastic at 1.19 in our International Gift Center.

Only the tea, coffee and punch are for real . . . so drop by and have some. If the hats . . . the friendly atmosphere . . . the promise of refreshments, do not spike your interest, all I can say is, "Any other ideas?"

Cy Barrett Says

Hit By Changes

By Cyrus Barrett, Jr.

DEAR CY:

This is no exaggeration. About 14 years ago, I borrowed $1,000 to go into business in a one man store. I have been here all these years, selling wallpaper, television sets, refrigerators, freezers and small appliance. The first 10 years, I made a good living and saved money.

Then things began to happen. Suddenly the do-it - yourself craze started and people began to paint instead of wallpaper. Then came the law outlawing fair trade which penalized me. Immediately the drug store began to sell small appliances at cost.

Then came trading stamps of all colors, for giving away the very appliances I was trying to sell. Next followed out-of-town salesmen with crooked food plans (not all are poony) and killed my freezer business. On their heels were television dealers advertising "Free portable when you buy a regular set." This knocked out my TV business. Especially when the big chain stores came into shopping centers.

On top of this appeared a paint company salesman who sold me this enormous load of paint. Competitors slashed paint prices and I am lucky to make 10 cents a gallon. . .if I can sell the paint.

I am stuck with most of the carload, but the salesman says he knows a way out of my predicament. I should sell my paint to a cut-rate competitor at a lower price than he can buy it. I should take another loss! Things sure aren't normal in this business. What is normal, these days, anyhow?

OMHART

DEAR OMHART:

Normal is the name of two towns. One is in Alabama, and the other in Illinois. Having had only four hours to ponder your question, I can't think of anything else normal today.

CY

DEAR CY:

My husband fancies himself as a radio or television announcer, but needs training. We have checked around carefully and don't seem to find any schools teaching this work. You'd think with 3,780 AM radio stations, 3,567 television stations and 1,057 FM stations, there would be announcer opportunities around every corner. How can he get started?

MRS. RODDY

DEAR MRS. RODDY:

Of the 1,057 FM stations you cite, 716 are operated in conjunction with other broadcasting properties. Nevertheless, your facts are correct. (The figures are misleading.) Historically the communications industry hauls talent up through the ranks or from related fields.

Although numerous colleges and universities offer excellent courses in radio and television, the degree itself seems to have higher value on the open market than specialization in air media.

There is a cross-over from films or the stage, but most successful radio and television talent begins at the bottom and pulls itself up the ladder hand over hand. All of which proves there are plenty of totem poles for your husband to chop his way into. . .at the bottom, of course.

CY

DEAR CY:

Does the fact that some airlines cancel flights because of a pilot shortage mean this is a wide open career opportunity? One airline cancelled 63 flights in one month because it didn't have enough piolts to fly its aircraft.

FLYER (?)

DEAR FLYER (?):

The U.S. Federal Aviation Agency requires commercial airline pilots hang around the clouds less than 86 hours each month. During peak passenger periods, some airlines put on many extra flights to serve the public.

Their pilots get overflown, and flighs at later dates are cancelled. No true pilot shortage but corporate practicality. The demand for qualified personnel to fly commercial aircraft remains the same. . . level, with flaps down.

Possible Tax Deductions, Other Info Listed By IRS

PHILADELPHIA — Kenneth O. Hook, Director of Internal Revenue for Philadelphia District yesterday revealed deductions tax payers may be entitled to deduct and other pertinent tax information.

You may be entitled to deduct union dues, employment agency fees, alimony and certain other miscellanous items of expense on your Federal income tax return, he said.

He added, employers liable for income tax witheld and social security taxes in excess of $100 for the month of February must deposit such taxes in a depositary, stressing the importance of compliance with the deposit deadline of March 16, 1964 he added that Form 450 must be used for this purpose.

Deposits may be made in local authorized banks, or Federal Reserve Banks, Circular E. "Employer's Tax Guide," provides further information, he said.

Also corporation tax deadlines were stressed by the Director. March 16th is the deadline for several tax law obligations for corporations reporting on a calendar year basis, Hook said.

He pointed out that corporations must file a 1963 income tax return, Form 1120, or an application for extension, Form 7004, and they must pay at least 50 per cent of the balance of the tax due.

Must File Form 1120-S

Corporations which have elected not to be taxed as corporations must file a Form 1120-S.

Unincorporated businesses electing to be taxed as corporations must file their 1963 income tax return, Form 1120, or application for extension on Form 7004, together with a payment of at least 50 per cent of the balance of income tax due. This return must contain a statement that it is filed in accordance with section 1361 of the Internal Revenue Code, Hook said.

Further information is available from the Internal Revenue Service.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Friday, March 13, 1964

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Re-establish connections that were sound, still are, carry weight. You could err over small details if not careful.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Don't hang on to an outmoded notion, a device definitely antidated by alternative devices. Don't defend method that needs changing; your mind is geared for real advancement now.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Meet this day with a determined attitude to see its new possibilities and offers — many to be eargerly grasped. Conferences, agreements need thought, a willingness to see both sides.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — This day asks patience on everyone's part, and if others disrupt procedures, there is more reason you should hold your ground. Dignity carries weight.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Your planetary influences advise against useless interruptions, a negative attitude, opposing others without reason. A good day for exercising sympathy, tolerance and some oldfashioned common sense.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — With your innate good judgment and clever management, you should do well now. An unexpected duty thrust upon you? If it will aid someone, pitch in with your well rounded capability.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Ask for an accounting where due; give one as readily: this will keep everything above-board, as you like it. Inch by inch you can gain and stabilize holdings.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — A continued search for Truth will turn up many unusual advantages and help prepare you for a sturdier way of life. Variety need not mean scattered efforts, but don't stay in a rut either.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — This is no day for vagueness, vacillating, doubting. Adapting yourself to circumstances — even unusual ones — may enable you to benefit in a very heart-warming way.

December 23 to January 20 (Capricorn) — If you are running into more snags than usual, immediately check, and re-check, if need be. There is no sense in repeating errors. Your intelligence tells you this.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Auspicious influences for advancement. Put forward your fundamental purpose and ideas for achieving; tackle some of the big issues; capitalize on your abilities.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — This day should turn out satisfactorily if you are master of your emotions in all situations. Generosity will make you happy, too.

YOU BORN TODAY are astute, intelligent, sympathetic, also as immovable as a donkey when in the mood. Properly educated and using your many talents, you can reach extraordinary goals, alone or with others. You enjoy good living, peaceful surroundings, order, good manner; abhor bickering, vulgarities, living without high purpose. But you may dream hours away instead of believing strongly enough in your hopes to realize them, even against big odds. Avoid anxiety, don't mind criticism, offer your talents in good faith. MAIL CALL

Jack Kist of East Stroudsburg, president of the Lehigh-Northampton League, forwards a letter answering complaints of one Darwyn E. Happel who describes himself as a "Bangor sports fan for fair rules."

Among other things of which Happel aired grievances in this corner last week were (1) the "unfairness in the way the Class B league champion was determined (a year ago) and why it should differ from the way the Class A champion is determined" and (2) that Pen Argyl High School "was pushed out of the picture as a Class B school (this year) by the same procedure as Bangor was a year ago."

Here is Jack's rebuttal:

"I am contacting you in regard to the letter of complaint that you received just recently from a Mr. Darwyn E. Happel, wherein it was inferred that the Lehigh-Northampton League misused Pen Argyl in relationship to determining our league's Class B basketball champion.

"There are two reasons why Pen Argyl was not given an opportunity to play Fountain Hill in our league's Class B championship. They are as follows:

"1. The PIAA states in brief that to be able to take part in any PIAA playoff, a team must rank in the upper half of its league's final standing. Pen Argyl ranked sixth in our league's final standing, which placed them in the lower half.

"2. Pen Argyl was notified earlier in the year, as well as all other participating schools, that to be considered eligible for any playoffs it is imperative that they attend the District 11 playoff planning meeting when called by the district committee. When this meeting was held, Pen Argyl did not have a representative present and therefore was considered as disinterested.

"Incidentally, after speaking with the Pen Argyl authorities, there was no animosity toward this situation on their behalf and they accepted the full responsibility for not being present at the above-mentioned meeting.

"Also, how are we, as a league, to determine year after year which is the strongest division within our league? That, of course, would vary from year to year and would be very difficult to determine and would provide many obstacles.

"Let me also inform Mr. Happel and all other interested parties that the league did not attempt to see if anything could be done about this situation but, again, because Pen Argyl had not attended the PIAA planning meeting it was too late for anything to be done about it. Again, Pen Argyl accepted this fact graciously and without complaint.

"I sincerely trust that this letter will assist in clarifying any misunderstandings that anyone might have in relationship to our league's playoff ruling. In brief, it must be remembered that in all cases and in order to participate a team must first rank in the upper half of the league's final standing and secondly must attend the organizational meeting when called by the district committee.

"P. S.—Let me add that I sincerely believe that if Pen Argyl would have attended the required meeting there would have been a playoff between them and Fountain Hill. Our league ruling that was adopted last year would have taken care of that situation, providing the PIAA would recognize this ruling."

From Augusta, Ga., Clifford Roberts, chairman of the Masters Golf Tournament committee, writes that 26 foreign contestants have indicated their intention to play in this year's Masters. Nine on the list will appear in the tourney for the first time.

"If all should arrive," says Roberts, "this will represent an increase of nine over last year. We are pleased to note that two members of the 1963 British Ryder Cup team (Geoffrey Hunt of Harts and Dave Thomas of Surrey) and the 1963 British PGA champion (Peter J. Butler of Birmingham) plan to be here this year.

"In the past," he notes, "we have not been favored with a good representation from England. The difficulty has been a conflict on as regards dates of the British PGA championship.

"Fortunately for us, this championship has been changed to a later period in the year which will, we hope, make the Masters Tournament more inviting to Britain's leading professionals."

Jones Wants Clay

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"I beat him once and I can beat him again," top contender Doug Jones said Thursday in throwing down a formal challenge to the new heavyweight boxing champion, Cassius Clay.

"My manager, Alex Koskowitz, and I are ready to post a bond of any denomination. I'll fight this man any time and anywhere in the world."

Jones, a rugged, 27-year-old product of New York's teeming Harlem, used a plush French restaurant in mid-Manhattan as the stage for the release of a 280-word, mimeographed statement calling upon the world's ruling boxing bodies to protect his rights as the leading challenger.

"Death Blow"

"To permit another Clay-Liston farce would be the death blow to boxing," Jones said.

The 186-pound, mustachioed fighter, who dropped a disputed split decision to Clay here a year ago, recently was named the No. 1 contender for the title by the World Boxing Association.

Ernie Terrell of Chicago is rated No. 2 and Sonny Liston, who lost the title to Clay by failing to come out for the seventh round last month in Miami Beach, was dropped to No. 3.

"Sham Champion"

Jones, between sips of consomme and bites of chicken Americaine, called Clay a "sham champion" and added that he really didn't believe the pride of the Black Muslims would accept his challenge.

"There hasn't been a real fighting champion since Joe Louis," Jones said.

He added that he had asked his manager to get him a fight a month and he is ready to fight anywhere for any legitimate promoter, big or small. "We are open to offers," he said.

Called A "Fake"

Jones dropped the close decision to Clay before a sellout crowd of 18,732 in New York's Madison Square Garden last March 13. He smashed Clay into the ropes with an explosive right hand in the first round. Many observers thought Jones won the fight and there were "fake" and "fix" from the objecting fans.

Jones, one of four children, won more than 30 fights as an amateur before he turned pro in 1958. As a pro, he has won 23 fights, 16 by knockouts, lost four and tied one. In his last outing, on Feb. 4, he stopped Tom McNeeley in the fifth round.

Dodgers' Howard Ponders Quitting

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Towering Frank Howard, the Los Angeles Dodgers' slugger of tape-measure home runs, was reported Thursday to be quitting baseball so he can spend more time with his family.

The 6-foot-7, 245-pounder, regarded as the mightiest hitter in the game today, wrote a letter to Dodger General Manager E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi indicating he was through.

Later, talking to The Associated Press from his home in Green Bay, Wis., he said there's a chance he can stay in the game — if certain "personal problems" can be adjusted.

"This is a personal matter which I am not free to discuss," he told a newsman. "I can't imagine how my letter to Mr. Bavasi leaked out."

Then he added:

"As soon as I have taken care of some legalities here, I will go to Vero Beach and meet with Mr. Bavasi. He has been good enough to counsel me in the past and I hope that he will do so again. I do not even know myself what I will do. There is a possibility I might quit baseball but there's a chance I might not."

"Decided To Quit"

Bavasi told newsmen covering the Dodgers' spring training camp that Howard had written him, saying in part: "As you know, I have given this careful consideration and I regret to tell you I have decided to quit baseball.

"I have found that money is not the cure to all ills. I have discussed this with my family and they realize they will have to make sacrifices. But I know they will be much happier with me at home than to have me gone most of the time like I have been."

Howard's salary last year was $22,000 and the club estimated he has earned $148,000 from professional baseball, including a $108,000 bonus after his 1958 graduation from Ohio State.

No Precedent

If Howard's retirement sticks, it will be no precedent. Jackie Jensen of the Boston Red Sox, Most Valuable player in the American League for 1958, retired after the 1959 season, saying he wanted to spend more time with his family.

Jensen reportedly also feared airplane travel. He returned to baseball briefly in 1961 before making his retirement permanent.

Bavasi said salary had nothing to do with Howard's decision.

"We hadn't even discussed his contract for this year," said the general manager.

"Personal Problems"

Howard had not signed a 1964 contract with the club. He had been excused from the first 11 days of spring training because of "personal problems."

The Dodgers, 1963 World Series champions and likely National League pennant favorites for 1964, had planned to play Howard as a regular and would have to do some quick reshuffling without him.

Howard hit 28 home runs last year and 31 in 1962. He had 99 since joining the club in 1960, leading the club in this department since his arrival.

Undefeated UCLA Sectional Favorite

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

UCLA, the first team since 1961 to go unbeaten into the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball tournament, is tabbed as favorite in its section. Duke, Kentucky and Wichita also are favored, but who really can pick a winner from among 16 of the strongest college teams in the nation?

The NCAA regionals at four sites Friday and Saturday will determine the teams for the national semifinals and finals at Kansas City a week later.

Team Pairings

The teams are paired up this way:

At Raleigh, N.C. — Duke vs. Connecticut; at Minneapolis — defending champion Loyola of Chicago vs. Michigan and Kentucky vs. Ohio University; at Wichita, Kan.—Kansas State vs. Texas Western and Wichita vs. Creighton; at Corvallis, Ore. — San Francisco vs. Utah State and UCLA vs. Seattle.

Starting times, EST, are 7 p.m. at Raleigh, 8 p.m. at Minneapolis, 8:30 p.m. at Wichita and 10:30 p.m. at Corvallis.

Ohio State took a 29-game winning streak into the 1961 tournament and made it 32 before the final. Then the result of one of the tournament's classic games was Cincinnati 70, Ohio State 65 in overtime.

26-0 Record

UCLA has a 26-0 record this season and Coach John Wooden calls his Bruins, led by All-America Walt Hazzard "as good as any team in the country and better than most." But the Bruins could be knocked out even quicker than Ohio State was.

San Francisco, one of five colleges that have won the NCAA title more than once, has a string of 18 straight victories and seems to be at its peak. UCLA's past NCAA record is poor. The Bruins got to the semifinals in 1962 but were beaten by Cincinnati. The other four times they were eliminated in their first start.

Kentucky has the best NCAA tournament record of any team —four titles in 13 tournaments. But the Wildcats, coached by Wily Adolph Rupp, are given the edge because experts figure Loyola and Michigan may wear each other down Friday.

Harkness Missing

Loyola has four of the five starting players from last year's winning team but Jerry Harkness, the leading scorer and team leader, is missing. Michigan, which tied Ohio State for the Big Ten title, is rugged under the boards.

Wichita's top place among four evenly-matched teams in the Midwest Regional might be challenged, but Missouri Valley Conference teams have the best record in NCAA tournament competition with a 28-11 mark in the post-season event. Wichita won the Valley nomination by beating Drake in a playoff. Texas Western looked strong in eliminating Texas A&M while Creighton and Kansas State are real threats.

Duke Favored

Duke, third in last year's national tournament and with talented Jeff Mullins replacing Art Heyman, the NCAA Most Valuable Player, is favored because it won the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament. If Duke and Princeton meet Saturday, as expected, the Tigers All-America Bill Bradley may outshine Mullins, but Duke seems to have more all-around strength.

NCAA Lifts Restrictions

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association lifted its post-season restrictions Thursday to permit undergraduate student athletes to play in the National AAU Basketball Tournament in Denver March 22-25.

This was done to give as many college players as possible a chance to enter the U.S. Olympic trials.

In sanctioning the AAU championship Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, said the waiver of basketball playing season rules is possible only during Olympic or Pan American games years.

Cubans See The Lights As Castro Pitches, Bats

HAVANA (AP)—The baseball game between the Occidentales of Havana and the Orientales of Santiago was over, the fans were filing out of the stadium and the lights had been dimmed when Fidel Castro suddenly leaped out on the field.

"Lights on," ordered the bearded Cuban prime minister, dressed in his usual army fatigue clothes. It was after midnight Wednesday.

The lights came on. Spectators stopped in their tracks and many of them returned to their seats.

Castro went to the pitchers' mound and directed that Pedro Chavez of the Occidentales, the leading batsman of the league, be sent up to the plate.

Castro, a baseball player in his school days and an ardent fan, began tossing the ball at Chavez. Chavez obligingly struck out.

Fans Bat, Too

Then the two managers of the teams came to bat and, after them, the coaches. Finally, three fans came onto the field and asked persmission to bat against the prime minister. This was allowed.

Nobody hit the ball out of the infield.

"I used only half-speed pitches and threw the ball over arm," Castro explained later.

Then Fidel decided to try his hand at bat. He asked Gilberto Torres, manager of the Occidentales who once was a well-known Cuban pitcher, to take the mound.

Torres pitched. Castro laced two solid line drives to the outfield and then swung wildly at three curves.

Gallery Cheers

After this performance, which drew cheers from the small gallery remaining, the prime minister discussed pitching techniques with the managers and coaches. He practiced throwing a sinker knuckleball for a half-hour.

"I'm not tired at all," he said afterward in answer to queries. "I train for hours every day and take long walks."

The prime minister jokingly said he would like to pitch one of the future games in the tournament.

Castro always has been an avid baseball fan but his enthusiasm this year has reached a new high.

Premier Miler Runs Out Of $$

NEW YORK (AP)—Feeding and clothing a large family is no easy task. But Glenn Cunningham, America's premier miler of the 1930s, has been doing that—and more.

"We have taken care of 7,400 boys and girls, ranging in age from 3 to 18, over the last 16 years," said Cunningham recently as he talked of the work to which he has been dedicated since he quit running in 1940.

"And now it must come to an end unless we can get some financial aid." Cunningham and his wife live on a 300-acre farm near Augusta, Kan., not far from Wichita. To it have come boys and girls from all over the country, mostly in the summer when they have had as many as 700 on hand at one time.

"Worth Every Cent"

"It has cost us an average of $18,000 a year but it has been worth every cent," he said. "Just seeing a disturbed child smile or another overcome home problems and go away happy is reward enough.

"When I got out of the Navy, I thought we had enough to live on comfortably for the remainder of our lives. But on my speaking tours I would hear of a youngster who was having troubles or was close to becoming a delinquent. I'd say 'Send him out to the farm and we'll take care of him as long as he wants to stay.'

"From that it just grew. I have put all I have made in speaking engagements back into the care of the children. If someone helps pay for a child, it hasn't averaged more than $70 a year. Fortunately the cows give milk, the hens lay eggs and the beef we raise can be slaughtered and frozen."

40 Animals

Glenn has assembled a menagerie of some 40 animals from all over the world. Riding horses are plentiful. Children are even permitted to bring their own pets.

"I bought the animals for the kids because I'm convinced that learning to get along with animals does more for troubled kids than any thing else," said Cunningham.

"My own kids are wonderful," he added. "They have learned to do without and pitch in and help. Mrs. Cunningham is better at cooking for many than a few."

The Cunninghams have only a seven-room house. That's barely room enough for their immediate family.

"But we manage somehow," he said "although often many have slept outdoors under the stars. Every child works a little, plays a lot."

Cunningham, who admits he has used up all of his personal resources, is hoping that some backer will come along to help keep the farm going.

"How do you say no to a child who has had nothing and comes to you asking only for a little love and something to eat."

Harrison, Krak Lead At St. Pete

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—A young man from the Carolina flatlands and another from the West Virginia hills tailored their golf games to the sandy soil of Florida Thursday and took shares of the first-round lead in the $25,000 St. Petersburg Open.

Bob Harrison, who grew up in Fayetteville, N.C., but plays out of Palm Desert, Calif., and Mike Krak, who migrated from Morgantown, W.Va., to New York, each had five-under-par 67s.

"I had the wedge going," said Harrison, who played a superb chipping and putting game over the 6,215-yard Lakewood Country Club course. He took only 26 putts, the lowest number in any round of the 10 PGA tournaments played this year.

Krak, a professional at Oceanside, N.Y., playing his first tournament this year, took 29 putts.

"That's tremendous for me," said the onetime star of the West Virginia University golf team. "I either putt very well or lousy."

The 35-year-old Krak bogeyed only one hole. The birdie putt that tied Harrison, an early finisher, came on the 18th.

Jack Nicklaus, the top man on the PGA money-winning list, had a poor round. The husky 23-year-old from Columbus, Ohio, trailed by the largest gallery of the day, had putter trouble and finished with a one-under-par 71.

Raymond Floyd came in at 68. Floyd, who won the St. Petersburg Open last year, plays out of St. Andrews, Ill.

S-Burg Shooters Wins No. 2

ALLENTOWN — Stroud Union's rifle team yesterday gained its second straight triumph over Dieruff, 480-467, as Bill Heitler and John Gallouris each posted 97 scores.

Byron Lichtenberg shot a 96 for the winners while Foster Lee and Bill Clark each registered a 95.

Pete Hanzlick shot a 96 to pace Dieruff.

Joey Jay Walks Out Of Camp

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Pitcher Joey Jay, two-time 20-game winner for the Cincinnati Reds, walked out of the club's spring training camp Thursday and Manager Fred Hutchinson called it an "unauthorized absence."

Jay said he was leaving for Cincinnati, and planned to be back here late Friday.

His only explanation was that it was "a personal thing," involving a lease expiration on his Cincinnati home April 1.

Reds owner Bill Dewitt said Jay also had asked permission to go to Spencer, W.Va., "to take care of some very personal and important matters." Jay has interests in an oil well business at Spencer.

Request Denied

Hutchinson denied the request Wednesday and was upheld by Dewitt. Dewitt said Hutchinson "is in complete charge of the team and will continue to have the support of the front office in his decision."

Giants Acquire A Real Dog

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The San Francisco Giants didn't realize it at the time, but they picked up a real dog when they acquired Bob Shaw from the Milwaukee Braves last December.

The dog, a springer spaniel named Beau, came here from Florida with Shaw and his wife, Asta, and has become a regular participant in Giant workouts.

Having a retriever's instincts, Beau will take out after just about anything that's hit — fair or foul. But, on command from Shaw, he'll sit back of the mound, reasonably rigid, while his master pitches batting practice.

Beau joined the Shaws last season in Milwaukee and went with them to Jupiter, Fla., where they built a home during the winter.

Cramer Wins; Regains First

STROUDSBURG — R. C. Cramer regained sole possession of first place in the YMCA Industrial Basketball League by turning back Twin City, 98-90. Chet's-Lanterman's gained a 111-101 decision over Lawson's in the other half of the twin bill.

Lee Neifert led Cramer with 28 points as the winners rolled to their 12th triumph in 13 games. The defeat was the second for Twin City against the same number of wins.

Behind by 23-21 after the first period, Cramer roared out in front by halftime, 56-41, outpointing Twin City by a 35-18 margin in the second canto.

Hen Chomentowski and Charlie Crane each netted 22 points for the winners and George Brommer tallied 15.

For Twin City, Ron Lauchnor led the club with 31 points while Charlie Chronister contributed 28. Bob Rentschler added 15 and Dick Lathrop netted 11.

Chet's-Lanterman's used a hot-handed scoring attack in the third period to overcome Lawson's in the other battle. The two teams were tied at 20-20 after the first quarter, and at 54-54 at halftime.

Doug Shook tallied 49 for the winners while Tom Moyer led Lawson's with 36 points.

Piersall Hopes To Become An Angel

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. — The headlines proclaimed darkly that Jimmy Piersall had an injured knee, hinting that the end could be in sight. Not of the knee, but of Piersall as a major league ball player.

Jimmy smiled thinly. "If I could have relaxed years ago the way I do today," he volunteered, "I would have starved."

Explaining quickly that the knee injury was only minor, he continued to pursue the subject of Piersall, the one-time neurotic.

"For all the trouble I had, the devil I raised and the problems I created," he reflected, "it is still a fact that if I hadn't been that way, I never would have amounted to anything as a player.

"I was one of those peculiar ducks who did his best work under strain. Tense and keyed up and eager to fight back at phantom enemies, I concentrated better in this frame of mind. I'm certainly not recommending it, nor am I sure I would want to go through it again. But it happens to be true that if I had taken things calmly, as I do today, I would have been selling peanuts."

Free Agent

Technically a free agent, Peirsall is in the camp of the Los Angeles Angels, charged with the responsibility of making the team. If he remains physically sound, he has been promised work by the Angels, at a respectable salary.

Piersall remarked firmly that no defense need be offered for his proceeding under such conditions.

"So people say, 'Why does the guy hang on? Why doesn't he give up gracefully and go do something else for a living?'

"I have never felt that a ball player past his peak is disgraced by remaining in the game. No more so than a writer, or a lawyer, or a vacuum salesman is disgraced by staying on in his trade. Me, for instance—I'm now in my 17th year in baseball. This is my game. I'm not humiliating myself by staying in it. And I don't feel I need be embarrassed because I don't play as well today as I did, say, seven years ago."

Piersall was asked how a former star feels about taking a cut.

"He wouldn't feel any worse than Sugar Ray Robinson would fighting for $4000, where he used to fight for $250,000," answered Jim. "This is no affront to your art. You face this thing realistically. You are paid for what you produce. But just because you don't produce as much as you used to, you don't necessarily quit, or kill yourself.

Pension Plan

"Besides, baseball has a thing called a pension. For each extra year you last, your future income increases."

Wistfully, Piersall points out that players like Ted Williams, Stan Musial and Yogi Berra lasted long beyond their prime, still drawing fat salaries, for a special reason.

When a guy can hit the ball, he explained, he preserves the illusion that he's still young much longer than a man who loses the bat, but still has much left in the field and on the bases.

"The last few years, a fellow like Musial could hardly move in the field," says Jim. "But no one considers you through until you start hitting .208."

A man with a delicate emotional history, Piersall is believed to have passed the final test last year on the way to permanent rehabilitation. Turned loose by the Mets, he suffered no setbacks that were noticeable.

Medical scientists agreed that no one less than an emotional giant could absorb the shock of not being considered good enough for the Mets. Compounding the danger for Piersall was the fact that he had come to the Mets from the Senators.

Undeniably, the man has gone through hell, with no negative effects.

Jim confides that he hasn't visited a psychiatrist since 1960, but takes his troubles from time to time to his old high school coach in Waterbury, Conn., Bill Tracy.

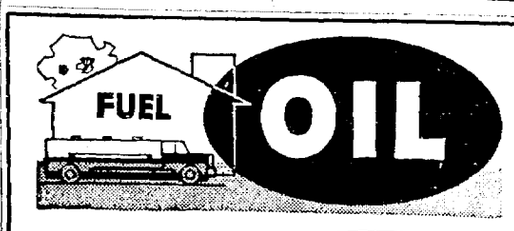

Ace-In-The-Hole

"Everyone with my type of problem needs someone to talk to," says Jim. "Bill is my ace-in-the-hole."

At the time of Piersall's attendance, the school was called Leavenworth High.

"Visitors used to bring sirens to make us feel at home," recalls Jim. "Not long ago, they changed the name to Croft High. For all I know, Croft may have been a plumber, but I guess the name is an improvement."

The Woman's Club of Portland and vicinity will meet Tuesday, March 17, at 7:30 p.m. in the club rooms on State St. The program will be given by Edward McGrady of Allentown. He will speak on "Prescriptions for Tomorrow."

Mrs. Mollie Post of Pocono Lake, Pa., and California, visited the past week with her nephew and niece Mr. and Mrs. William Dickey. She has recently left for California to visit her son.

Miss Doris Hamilton of Westfield, N. J., spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hamilton on Upper Delaware Ave.

Class Truth of the Portland Methodist Church will meet today at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Wilfred Rowden in Middle Village.

At the morning worship services of the Portland Methodist Church, the Girl Scout Troop and the Brownie Troop of Portland and vicinity were honored with their leaders Mrs. Sherman LaBarre and Mrs. Fontanello. The Boy Scout Troop 24 of Staten Island, N. Y. and their leaders also were present. Troop 24 was camping at Camp Weygadt. The choir rendered an anthem. Rev. Raymond Poortstra, pastor, installed the Junior Fellowship officers and counsellors. They were president, Miss Shirley Reagle; vice president, Rodger Pensyl; recording secretary, Gail Ann Labarre; treasurer, Bradley Wilhelm; assistant treasurer, Kim Potter and corresponding secretary, Susan Jewell. Also counsellors, Mrs. Louis Wheeler, Mrs. Harry Schall and Miss Kay Ribble. Rev. Poortstra's message was "Not for Justice but for Me." In the Church School The Reagles Four entertained with instrumental music and singing.

Harry Farleigh, retired tax collector for Upper Mount Bethel Township, is a patient in the Monroe County General Hospital at East Stroudsburg with a fractured hip. On Sunday his son, Robert Farleigh of Mount Bethel was admitted to the same hospital after having the misfortune to fall at his home.

Mrs. E. Randall Carpenter spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. William Sprich, Washington, N. J.

Mrs. Lela Williams will be hostess to the VCC Card Club at her home in Slateford, Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hower have returned to their home in Slateford after spending the past month in Florida.

The Portland and vicinity Lions Club met recently at Johnnie's Restaurant. Family Night was observed. The Great Scalzo, an Easton Magician, entertained. Olin Cramer and Hiram Delp were in charge of the program. Harold Kinney was appointed chairman of the Easter Egg Hunt.

Wallace Stine gave the invocation, Otto Hochrein lead group singing and Paul Signfus presided. The next meeting will be March 19 at Johnnie's at 8 p.m.

The first of the four Lenten services was held recently in the Portland Methodist Church. Rev. Raymond Poortstra, pastor of the host church, gave the message. The choir gave an anthem and Mrs. Floyd LaBarre and Miss Kay Ribble sang a duet "The Legend". Rev. Cotton of the Columbia, N.J., Methodist church gave the responsive reading and Rev. Charles Cummings, pastor of the Portland-Mount Bethel Community Presbyterian church read the Scripture from St. John. The prayer and invocation was by Rev. Poortstra.

Want ad hats are for grownups, too!

Forrest Cory, a Daily Record compositor, just couldn't help getting into the friendly spirit of things as he worked on the Want Ad Hat ad in Wednesday's paper.

As the beaming smile above shows, it's just plain difficult to be unhappy when you're wearing a Want Ad Hat. Follow the simple directions in Wednesday's paper and make some want ad hats for your family.

And tell the kids to be on the lookout for the Want Ad Photographer this Saturday. He'll be touring the Stroudsburgs, Mt. Pocono and West End areas.

If he takes a picture of your child wearing a Want Ad Hat, your son or daughter will get a shiny silver dollar!

For fun and profit, read and use

GOT A MONEY RAISING PROBLEM?

Let's face it: when you need cash there's really no substitute!

That's why so many folks use Daily Record want ads.

Just like instant money!

Want ads are fast "buyer finders" for articles you no longer need and want to sell. All it takes is a telephone and The Daily Record want ad number (421-7349 or 421-3000).

Place your ad today, get results tomorrow.

Edwin E. Butts of 150 Washington St., E. Stroudsburg, placed an ad last week to sell his Easy clothes washer. He ordered the ad 4 days . . . and sold it the first day.

"It pays to advertise in The Daily Record," Mr. Butts said in a thoughtful thank-you note to the Classified Dept.

Why don't you try a want ad now during National Want Ad Week.

If you order your ad 4 days we'll give you an extra day for 1c. Order your ad 7 days and we'll give you two extra days for only 2c.

Open to all classifications with full cancellation privileges. Offer expires Saturday.

Evaluation Set For PM Joint

SWIFTWATER — Pocono Mountain Joint Junior - Senior High School will be evaluated from March 17 through 19.

The evaluation, according to C. Willis Dunlap, supervising principal of the jointure, will be conducted by the Commission on Secondary Schools of the Middle States Assn. of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Eighteen members of high school faculties from New Jersey and Pennsylvania will do the evaluating, which criticizes all phases of a school's operation.

The evaluating team then gives the school a rating.

"It should be done once in every five years," Dunlap said.

A banquet for the team will be served in the school cafeteria on March 16.

Chairman of the team will be Landis Brackbill, principal of Penn Manor High School in Millersville. Assistant chairman will be Paul Wilson, principal of Lampeter High School, Lampeter, Pa.

Pen Argyl Legion Plans For 4th Event

PEN ARGYL — Five men were named to the Weona Park Fourth of July celebration committee at a meeting of Charles Nelson Lobb Post 502, American Legion in the post home this week.

They, are Etalo Brescancine, chairman; Harold M. Hontz, Burdell Hontz, Jay Young and Charles Morgan.

At the meeting an inspection of the post was conducted by Domenic Sabatine, Roseto, 30th District, deputy commander, assisted by Michael Diorio, also of Roseto.

The legion will be the guest of the post auiliary on Friday night at a 45th anniversary party of the American legion.

Charles Morgan reported that the post band has been invited and will participate in the program for Maj. Herbert Frye in Bangor on May 24.

A membership of 263 was reported. A donation was made to the Easter seal project.

The next county meeting will be in Bath on April 17. The next meeting of the legion will be March 23, when the post will observe the 45th anniversary of the American legion.

Kiwanians Hear About Moon Trip

STROUDSBURG—Eugene D. Lavery, public relations representative of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, addressed the Kiwanis Club of Stroudsburg at its weekly luncheon meeting Wednesday at the Penn-Stroud Hotel. The speaker's subject was "Reaching For the Moon."

Lavery described a trip to the moon aboard a Project Apollo spacecraft riding a Saturn rocket in fascinating detail.

Illustrated by free-hand drawings and art panels in luminous colors under black light, Lavery told the various stages of the NASA program for human exploration of the moon and the important part undertaken by the Bell Telephone System in history's most challenging peacetime project.

The program chairman was E. P. Chura.

The Rev. P. N. Wohlsen reported on the inter-club meeting held at Wilkes-Barre which included Kiwanians Frank Lanterman, the Rev. Mel Pingel, Ralph E. Shupp and Rev. Wohlsen.

Strip Miners To Get Info

HARRISBURG (AP) — The state mines secretary told a group of mine operators yesterday a private engineering firm is attempting to come up with definitions and a booklet to clarify provisions of the 1963 bituminous strip mine law.

More than 150 strip mine operators, mining engineers and their representatives appealed to Mines Secretary H. Beecher Charmbury and the Land Reclamation Board, which administers the 1963 act, to clarify portions of the new law.

Frank Mohney of Butler, an officer of the Independent Mineral Producers Association, asked the board to eliminate a regulation requiring full restoration of slopes of 12 degrees or less, to define the words "approximate contour" as in the act and to base restoration on location of the land, its use and value.

Charmbury said at the conclusion of the day-long meeting: "We're trying hard to get clarification, but it is going to take time and patience."
